Warren Inquiry Scans Evidence In Oswald Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — After preliminary study of the FBI's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Presidential Investigating Commission is calling for the evidence on which the report was based.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, heading the high-level board of inquiry, announced its decision Monday night and disclosed that the commission is building a legal staff to help it scan the evidence.

Warren told newsmen the move was "a perfectly normal thing." But it was clear that the commission intends to scrutinize and evaluate the FBI's work on the case instead of taking the FBI findings at face value.

The still-secret FBI report is understood to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, was the hidden rifleman who killed Kennedy on Nov. 22 in Dallas and to dismiss, by omission, the theory that Oswald had help or accomplices.

The Warren commission, it appears, wants to sift every scrap of evidence available which might resolve, one way or the other, any suspicion of collusion or conspiracy. Such talk gained circulation after the captured Oswald was shot dead in a Dallas police garage by nightclub owner Jack Ruby, 52.

Bolivian Tin Miners Free 19 Men Held As Hostages

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Four U.S. citizens held hostage for 10 days in a tin mining center by Communist-led miners returned by plane today to La Paz, Bolivia's capital. They were freed and moved to the Andean city of Oruro Monday night.

The Americans and 15 other hostages got their freedom after a noisy, tense meeting of 4,000 miners approved an agreement between the government and dissident Vice President Juan Lechin, boss of the mine workers' federation.

The Americans, three members of the U.S. Embassy staff in La Paz and a Peace Corps volunteer, were found in good health but in a highly nervous state by mine company doctors.

The other hostages—a West German, a Dutchman and 13 Bolivians — returned to their families and jobs in Catavi, where they had been held.

Scare Tactics Fail

The Americans were brought by a jeep convoy over 30 miles of treacherous mountain road through pouring rain to Oruro, hub city for this Andean mining area. U.S. Ambassador Douglas Henderson greeted them and arranged for a flight to La Paz today, although the rain threatened to delay takeoff.

The hostages were seized Dec. 6 in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist mine union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar, on criminal charges. The Americans had gone to Catavi, 150 miles southeast of La Paz, to deliver a $15,000 U.S. aid check to help in the construction of two schools.

"For the last 10 days, the Commies have tried to force us to ask for Pimental's and Escobar's release, but not one of us gave in," said one of the Americans, Thomas M. Martin Jr., 27, of the Bronx, N.Y.

"They tried all sorts of scare tactics," added Martin, a U.S. Information Agency officer.

Another hostage, Bernard Rifkin, 52, Brooklyn-born labor adviser for the U.S. Agency for International Development, said the worst part of the ordeal was the night of their capture.

"They put guns in our backs and set off dynamite," he reported.

Michael A. Kristula, 41, another U.S. Information Agency officer, commented: "I felt the embassy did everything possible and we never questioned their efforts nor did we ever doubt the support of President Johnson or the American people."

Kristulas wife also is in La Paz and he has relatives in Niles, Ill., and Cadillac, Mich.

Robert Fergerstrom, 26, of Honolulu, the Peace Corps member, also said, "that first night was frightening as hell."

In Washington, President Johnson said he was deeply gratified by the release of the four Americans.

"These men, who were acting in the service of our country, have borne the long distressing ordeal with great courage," he said.

Double Setback Dealt Johnson In House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid battle has cost President Johnson his first setback on Capitol Hill since becoming chief executive, and with stinging criticism of Congress he looked hopefullly to the Senate to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment prohibiting the government from guaranteeing private financing of wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

May Be Held Over

It added up to another obstacle in the path of the battered aid measure and there seemed to be a good chance that final passage would have to be put off until next year.

As the Huose was voting 249-135 to hold spending for economic and military assistance to $2.8 billion—$1.7 billion below what the late President John F. Kennedy requested — Johnson issued a sharply worded statement.

Johnson used as a vehicle for his criticism the foreign aid authorization bill which puts restrictions on the program and fixes a spending ceiling of $3.6 billlion.

In his statement after signing the measure, Johnson made clear that he considers $3.6 billion "a dangerous reduction in funds" and that anything less would represent "a policy of weakness and retreat."

Grain Deal Blocked

In words similar to those once spoken by his predecessor, Johnson said tartly "we cannot oppose the spread of communism and promote the growth of freedom by giving speeches."

The authorization measure, he he said, reflects the nation's determination to maintain security by helping those willing to help themselves. But he added: "It also reflects, unfortunately, the growing tendency to hamstring executive flexibility with rigid legislative provisions wholly inappropriate and potentially dangerous in a world of rapid change."

U.S. and American negotiations for the sale of about 4 million tons of U.S. wheat have been hung up on the question of shipping rates. In approving the proposed sale Oct. 9, Kennedy had added a requirement that the wheat be carried on U.S. ships when available. Russians have objected to the higher U.S. shipping rates.

The House amendment, designed to throw a monkey wrench into the wheat deal, was adopted by a 218-169 vote when offered by Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill.

Fish Fry In State Capitol Turns Out To Be Whopper

LANSING (AP) — Whether it gets the Michigan fishing industry off the hook remains to be seen, but Monday's promotional fish fry at the State Capitol turned out to be a whopper.

"There's such a demand that we haven't even got enough," said Gov. George Romney, casting an eye at some of the more than 800 persons who showed up.

"Greatest meal ever served in the rotunda," declared Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, noting that—as far as far as anyone knew—it also was the first.

The fish fry was cooked up as a way of demonstrating confidence in the commercial fishing industry, which has watched consumer demand decline after a series of food poisoning incident.

But there was no timidity at the dinner table by the guests.

Officials who put the fish fry together agreed that everything went swimmingly.

The crowd—jamming into the main capitol rotunda like sardines in a can consumed the better part of a half-ton of seafood.

There was perch, pike and whitefish from various Michigan Great Lakes ports as the main course, surrounded by shrimp and two kinds of lobster from some ocean or other.

Also fresh fruit, fried potatoes, coffee and ice cream with embossed fish decoration.

Romney, Lesinski and Senate Minority Leader Charles Blondy, D-Detroit, made brief welcoming speeches after donning chef's caps.

The governor also confessed that his so-called "fight" with Lesinski over who suggested the fish fry was a red herring.

"We just did that to build up the publicity angle," said Romney. "ha, ha, ha."

"Ho, ho, ho," said Lesinski.

The most important guest from outside the state was John Carver, assistant secretary of the interior for public land management, who responded to an invitation from Lesinski.

Vote Proposed For Revision Of Constitution

LANSING (AP) — A plan to put a series of proposed amendments to the new constitution to a special vote next spring is quietly taking shape in the legislature.

Almost without notice — and with agreement that it could "best operate with the least amount of publicity possible"—an informal, bi-partisan "committee" has been established.

Its work, if completely successful, could result in a wholesale revamping of the new constitution, which was adopted by voters last April and becomes effective Jan. 1, 1964.

One member of the committee says its work will be done not as a legislative body, but as a "citizens group trying to make right the wrongs" in the new constitution.

The "committee" has no official status in the legislature and no funds, but has been organized to function before and during the regular legislative session of 1964.

The committee's plan provides for each of the 12 sections of the new document to be studied, revised and submitted to voters independently of the others.

This means voters could be asked to decide on anywhere from one to 12 amendments to the constitution, possibly all appearing on the ballot at the same time.

Almost certainly, the amendments would cover the areas of greatest dispute in the current legislative session on constitutional implementation.

These would include election provisions for county and township officers, the new State Court of Appeals, judicial appointments and the new State Civil Rights Commission.

Several of these subjects, in fact, already have been aired in general terms in the first two meetings of the legislative "citizens" group.

One source reported that the possibility of abolishing the Civil Rights Commission as a constitutional body, with the thought of recreating it as a statutory body — subject to legislative control — had been discussed.

Other proposals under consideration include wiping out the constitutional provisions that all state - supported and local retirement systems be fully funded, and setting up four - year terms for legislators.

Relief Sighted In Cold Spell

By The Associated Press

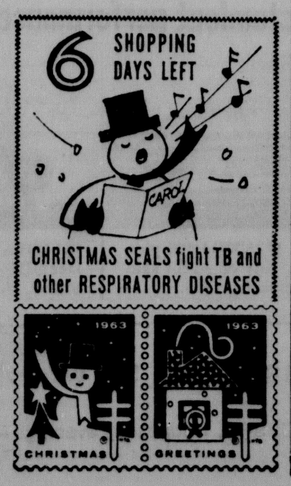
A pre-winter cold wave, longest of the season, continued over most of the eastern half of the nation today but there was a promise of a little relief in some sections.

Sub-zero cold again stung most of the northern areas from the Rockies into northern New England and northern New York state. Freezing weather again nipped many parts of the Southland.

Temperatures were as low as 13 below in Augusta, Maine, and near that mark in Rome, N.Y. In the Midwest, the mercury dropped to -11 in Lone Rock, Wis., but rose to 8 below in a few hours. Much colder weather was reported in many Midwest areas Monday, including 36 below in Bemidji, Minn. Chicago had its fourth straight morning of zero or lower, with 7 below in northwest suburban areas.

Increasing cloudiness and light snow spread into the Plains and the western Mississippi Valley and temperatures were expected to moderate.

The mercury dropped to the 20s and lower along the East Coast and in parts of the Southeast. The 40s covered the Gulf Region and most of the Pacific Coast and far Southwest.



One Man Killed, 14 Injured In Freeway Wreck

DEARBORN (AP) — Julius Colucci, 21, of Wyandotte, was killed Monday and 14 other persons injured in a Willow Run Freeway crash involving a runaway semi-trailer truck and four other vehicles.

Police said Colucci, a Wayne County Road Commission employe, and five fellow workers were struck down by the truck as they walked between two road commission trucks parked on a ramp. They were making road repairs, police said.

Police said the trailer truck suddenly went out of control and struck a road commission "warning truck" parked with its yellow flashers going. The truck then plowed through the group of workers, struck a second commission truck, and overturned in front of eastbound traffic.

Lawyers Seek Ruby's Release

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers are trying to get the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy out of jail before Christmas. The state insists he should be kept behind bars.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a Dec. 23 hearing on a defense request Monday for release of Ruby under bond. His trial on a charge of murder is set for Feb. 3 before the same jurist.

During this legal activity at the county courthouse, heavier-than-normal traffic continued outside the building past the point where a hidden rifleman ambushed the President Nov. 22. It was two days later that Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, in the City Hall basement.

A flag flies at half staff over a grassy parkway beside this spot in the edge of the business district. Fresh flowers appear there daily. Dozens of wreaths hang from a fence erected to support them.

Tom Howard of Dallas, one of the lawyers representing Ruby, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the move to free the prisoner. The application contends that Ruby, 52, owner of a Dallas strip joint, is entitled to release under bond pending trial.

Howard also said the defense staff, headed by Melvin Belli of Los Angeles and San Francisco, wants Ruby to undergo psychiatric examination and this cannot be done properly in jail.

Michigan Senate Passes 27 Bills In 81 Minutes

LANSING (AP) — Sidestepping even the mildest arguments, the Senate late Monday night whipped through House-approved legislation, passing bills at the rate of one every three minutes.

As the Senate adjourned at 9:30, President Pro Tem John Smeekens, R - Coldwater, announced "in the past 81 minutes, you have passed 27 bills, given them immediate effect, and done this without one single dissenting vote."

Sen. William Ford, D - Taylor, answered with a facetious motion that to preserve party harmony the Senate adjourn for good "before we get into a dogfight."

He referred to several items, mostly dealing with the court system, which were skipped over at the sign of a floor fight.

Left for possible action today were bills to allow appointed judges to run as "incumbents" for election to their posts, and to keep nine appointed circuit judges in office until 1966.

Ford, speaking for many Senate Democrats, has argued vigorously against both bills, and party-line votes are expected.

Legislation passed includes measures standardizing the governing bodies of state colleges and universities and requiring audit reports from them, and a host of election and judicial matters, mostly bringing statutory language into conformity with he new constitution.

A Civil Rights Commission bill with five amendments was reported out by the House State Affairs Committee and referred to ways and means, where it is expected to stay only briefly.

Amendments Adopted

Among amendments was one specifying that persons found guilty of discrimination by the commission would have the right of trial "de novo," or a complete hearing, on appeal to court.

The House adopted six amendments to the State Court of Apppeals bill that, in effect, restored the three districts proposed in the original bill.

It went to ways and means for study of appeals court judges' salary provisions.

The changes abolished amendments previously attached in the Senate which would have put Ingham and Jackson counties in the largest outstate district and Bay, Saginaw, Midland and Gratiot Counties in the second, or middle-sized district of southeastern Michigan.

Support Of U.S. Pledged Toward U.N. Peace Goal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — America's new President came before the community today with a pledge of support and an "unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

President Johnson addressed the United Nations in the great hall of its General Assembly. It was his first international forum since he took the helm of government Nov. 22, upon the death of John F. Kennedy.

"I have come here today to make it unmistakably clear," Johnson said, "that the assassin's bullet which took his life did not alter his nation's purpose."

No New Proposals

The President thus brought the reassurances expected of him, but no new major policy pronouncements or proposals.

He did suggest in generalities that a modern new deal could build a better world, that it is time for a peaceful revolution on a universal scale to improve human welfare and dignity.

But, said Johnson in a prepared text:

"The greatest of human problems—and the greatest of our common tasks—is to keep the peace and save the future...

"If there is one commitment more than any other that I would leave with you today, it is my unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace...

"The United States wants unity, security, and peace for all, and above all.

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best memorial the fact that in his three years as president the world became a little safer and the way ahead a little brighter. To the protection and enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its government."

Big Problems Remain

Johnson lauded the United Nations for successes exceeding failures. Yet he recognized that vast problems remain: conflicts between great powers and between small nations, disagreements over disarmament, persistence of ancient wrongs against human rights, tag-end problems of colonialism.

But nations which created these problems by working apart can solve them by working together, the President said.

He did not emphasize specific areas of conflict and disagreement or suggest any specific solutions.

He did say what the United States wants.

He mentioned an end to the cold war, first of all.

He said his country also wants to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now having them, to push on with arms control and reduction, to cooperate with all U.N. members in conquering hunger, disease and ignorance.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America doesn't intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Truck Hits Cars; Woman Killed And 7 Injured

DETROIT (AP) — A woman was killed and seven other persons were injured when police said a steel-loaded semi-truck hit two cars after running a red light at a U. S. 24 intersection in Taylor Township Monday night.

The truck, hauling 21 tons of steel, rammed the two cars as they entered the intersection from North Line Road, police said.

Mrs. Wilma Jean Ball, 27, of Taylor Township, one of eight occupants of one of the cars, was killed. Five others in the car, including three children, were injured.

Injured in the second car were Paul Dowell, 22, of Dearborn, and his wife, Patricia, 21.

Jerry L. Thompson, 23, of Tipp City, Ohio, driver of the truck, was held for investigation of negligent homicide. He was unhurt.

Warren Inquiry Scans Evidence In Oswald Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — After preliminary study of the FBI's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Presidential Investigating Commission is calling for the evidence on which the report was based.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, heading the high-level board of inquiry, announced its decision Monday night and disclosed that the commission is building a legal staff to help it scan the evidence.

Warren told newsmen the move was "a perfectly normal thing." But it was clear that the commission intends to scrutinize and evaluate the FBI's work on the case instead of taking the FBI findings at face value.

The still-secret FBI report is understood to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, was the hidden rifleman who killed Kennedy on Nov. 22 in Dallas and to dismiss, by omission, the theory that Oswald had help or accomplices.

The Warren commission, it appears, wants to sift every scrap of evidence available which might resolve, one way or the other, any suspicion of collusion or conspiracy. Such talk gained circulation after the captured Oswald was shot dead in a Dallas police garage by nightclub owner Jack Ruby, 52.

Bolivian Tin Miners Free 19 Men Held As Hostages

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Four U.S. citizens held hostage for 10 days in a tin mining center by Communist-led miners returned by plane today to La Paz, Bolivia's capital. They were freed and moved to the Andean city of Oruro Monday night.

The Americans and 15 other hostages got their freedom after a noisy, tense meeting of 4,000 miners approved an agreement between the government and dissident Vice President Juan Lechin, boss of the mine workers' federation.

The Americans, three members of the U.S. Embassy staff in La Paz and a Peace Corps volunteer, were found in good health but in a highly nervous state by mine company doctors.

The other hostages—a West German, a Dutchman and 13 Bolivians — returned to their families and jobs in Catavi, where they had been held.

Scare Tactics Fail

The Americans were brought by a jeep convoy over 30 miles of treacherous mountain road through pouring rain to Oruro, hub city for this Andean mining area. U.S. Ambassador Douglas Henderson greeted them and arranged for a flight to La Paz today, although the rain threatened to delay takeoff.

The hostages were seized Dec. 6 in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist mine union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar, on criminal charges. The Americans had gone to Catavi, 150 miles southeast of La Paz, to deliver a $15,000 U.S. aid check to help in the construction of two schools.

"For the last 10 days, the Commies have tried to force us to ask for Pimental's and Escobar's release, but not one of us gave in," said one of the Americans, Thomas M. Martin Jr., 27, of the Bronx, N.Y.

"They tried all sorts of scare tactics," added Martin, a U.S. Information Agency officer.

Another hostage, Bernard Rifkin, 52, Brooklyn-born labor adviser for the U.S. Agency for International Development, said the worst part of the ordeal was the night of their capture.

"They put guns in our backs and set off dynamite," he reported.

Michael A. Kristula, 41, another U.S. Information Agency officer, commented: "I felt the embassy did everything possible and we never questioned their efforts nor did we ever doubt the support of President Johnson or the American people."

Kristulas wife also is in La Paz and he has relatives in Niles, Ill., and Cadillac, Mich.

Robert Fergerstrom, 26, of Honolulu, the Peace Corps member, also said, "that first night was frightening as hell."

In Washington, President Johnson said he was deeply gratified by the release of the four Americans.

"These men, who were acting in the service of our country, have borne the long distressing ordeal with great courage," he said.

Lawyers Seek Ruby's Release

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers are trying to get the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy out of jail before Christmas. The state insists he should be kept behind bars.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a Dec. 23 hearing on a defense request Monday for release of Ruby under bond. His trial on a charge of murder is set for Feb. 3 before the same jurist.

During this legal activity at the county courthouse, heavier-than-normal traffic continued outside the building past the point where a hidden rifleman ambushed the President Nov. 22. It was two days later that Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, in the City Hall basement.

A flag flies at half staff over a grassy parkway beside this spot in the edge of the business district. Fresh flowers appear there daily. Dozens of wreaths hang from a fence erected to support them.

Tom Howard of Dallas, one of the lawyers representing Ruby, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the move to free the prisoner. The application contends that Ruby, 52, owner of a Dallas strip joint, is entitled to release under bond pending trial.

Howard also said the defense staff, headed by Melvin Belli of Los Angeles and San Francisco, wants Ruby to undergo psychiatric examination and this cannot be done properly in jail.

Michigan Senate Passes 27 Bills In 81 Minutes

LANSING (AP) — Sidestepping even the mildest arguments, the Senate late Monday night whipped through House-approved legislation, passing bills at the rate of one every three minutes.

As the Senate adjourned at 9:30, President Pro Tem John Smeekens, R - Coldwater, announced "in the past 81 minutes, you have passed 27 bills, given them immediate effect, and done this without one single dissenting vote."

Sen. William Ford, D - Taylor, answered with a facetious motion that to preserve party harmony the Senate adjourn for good "before we get into a dogfight."

He referred to several items, mostly dealing with the court system, which were skipped over at the sign of a floor fight.

Left for possible action today were bills to allow appointed judges to run as "incumbents" for election to their posts, and to keep nine appointed circuit judges in office until 1966.

Ford, speaking for many Senate Democrats, has argued vigorously against both bills, and party-line votes are expected.

Legislation passed includes measures standardizing the governing bodies of state colleges and universities and requiring audit reports from them, and a host of election and judicial matters, mostly bringing statutory language into conformity with he new constitution.

A Civil Rights Commission bill with five amendments was reported out by the House State Affairs Committee and referred to ways and means, where it is expected to stay only briefly.

Amendments Adopted

Among amendments was one specifying that persons found guilty of discrimination by the commission would have the right of trial "de novo," or a complete hearing, on appeal to court.

The House adopted six amendments to the State Court of Apppeals bill that, in effect, restored the three districts proposed in the original bill.

It went to ways and means for study of appeals court judges' salary provisions.

The changes abolished amendments previously attached in the Senate which would have put Ingham and Jackson counties in the largest outstate district and Bay, Saginaw, Midland and Gratiot Counties in the second, or middle-sized district of southeastern Michigan.

Support Of U.S. Pledged Toward U.N. Peace Goal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — America's new President came before the community today with a pledge of support and an "unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

President Johnson addressed the United Nations in the great hall of its General Assembly. It was his first international forum since he took the helm of government Nov. 22, upon the death of John F. Kennedy.

"I have come here today to make it unmistakably clear," Johnson said, "that the assassin's bullet which took his life did not alter his nation's purpose."

No New Proposals

The President thus brought the reassurances expected of him, but no new major policy pronouncements or proposals.

He did suggest in generalities that a modern new deal could build a better world, that it is time for a peaceful revolution on a universal scale to improve human welfare and dignity.

But, said Johnson in a prepared text:

"The greatest of human problems—and the greatest of our common tasks—is to keep the peace and save the future...

"If there is one commitment more than any other that I would leave with you today, it is my unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace...

"The United States wants unity, security, and peace for all, and above all.

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best memorial the fact that in his three years as president the world became a little safer and the way ahead a little brighter. To the protection and enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its government."

Big Problems Remain

Johnson lauded the United Nations for successes exceeding failures. Yet he recognized that vast problems remain: conflicts between great powers and between small nations, disagreements over disarmament, persistence of ancient wrongs against human rights, tag-end problems of colonialism.

But nations which created these problems by working apart can solve them by working together, the President said.

He did not emphasize specific areas of conflict and disagreement or suggest any specific solutions.

He did say what the United States wants.

He mentioned an end to the cold war, first of all.

He said his country also wants to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now having them, to push on with arms control and reduction, to cooperate with all U.N. members in conquering hunger, disease and ignorance.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America doesn't intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Truck Hits Cars; Woman Killed And 7 Injured

DETROIT (AP) — A woman was killed and seven other persons were injured when police said a steel-loaded semi-truck hit two cars after running a red light at a U. S. 24 intersection in Taylor Township Monday night.

The truck, hauling 21 tons of steel, rammed the two cars as they entered the intersection from North Line Road, police said.

Mrs. Wilma Jean Ball, 27, of Taylor Township, one of eight occupants of one of the cars, was killed. Five others in the car, including three children, were injured.

Injured in the second car were Paul Dowell, 22, of Dearborn, and his wife, Patricia, 21.

Jerry L. Thompson, 23, of Tipp City, Ohio, driver of the truck, was held for investigation of negligent homicide. He was unhurt.

Double Setback Dealt Johnson In House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid battle has cost President Johnson his first setback on Capitol Hill since becoming chief executive, and with stinging criticism of Congress he looked hopefullly to the Senate to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment prohibiting the government from guaranteeing private financing of wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

May Be Held Over

It added up to another obstacle in the path of the battered aid measure and there seemed to be a good chance that final passage would have to be put off until next year.

As the Huose was voting 249-135 to hold spending for economic and military assistance to $2.8 billion—$1.7 billion below what the late President John F. Kennedy requested — Johnson issued a sharply worded statement.

Johnson used as a vehicle for his criticism the foreign aid authorization bill which puts restrictions on the program and fixes a spending ceiling of $3.6 billlion.

In his statement after signing the measure, Johnson made clear that he considers $3.6 billion "a dangerous reduction in funds" and that anything less would represent "a policy of weakness and retreat."

Grain Deal Blocked

In words similar to those once spoken by his predecessor, Johnson said tartly "we cannot oppose the spread of communism and promote the growth of freedom by giving speeches."

The authorization measure, he he said, reflects the nation's determination to maintain security by helping those willing to help themselves. But he added: "It also reflects, unfortunately, the growing tendency to hamstring executive flexibility with rigid legislative provisions wholly inappropriate and potentially dangerous in a world of rapid change."

U.S. and American negotiations for the sale of about 4 million tons of U.S. wheat have been hung up on the question of shipping rates. In approving the proposed sale Oct. 9, Kennedy had added a requirement that the wheat be carried on U.S. ships when available. Russians have objected to the higher U.S. shipping rates.

The House amendment, designed to throw a monkey wrench into the wheat deal, was adopted by a 218-169 vote when offered by Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill.

Green Christmas Is Produced By Rock Community

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM

ROCK — When folks elsewhere talk about a "White" Christmas, the people in the Rock area begin to get busy with a "Green" Christmas. Though there has been a change in the business, Rock is still producing much of the boughs and Christmas trees sold in points south.

A salesman new in this area stopped at a store early in October and wondered what had happened to the women in the Rock area. Nobody was at home in so many homes and this was common day after day. He was informed that starting with October women take to the woods to cut boughs. The men start on the trees somewhat later.

Fewer men retail trees than in the past years. Prices have changed much more in the "green" business than in any other commodity. The gamble involved has become terrific. Wholesaling trees has become popular with the local folks.

Changing Times

The Westlund father and son team are the only ones from Rock who still retail trees. They have had the same lot for years in Chicago. They send out cards to all their old customers, announcing when they will be open for business. They purchase many of the native trees, but raise their own Scotch pine. When the weather is cold, it does not help the tree market, as cold trees break and they cannot be displayed to their full advantage, consequently their price goes down.

Gamble or not, the Westlunds say they enjoy the adventure, a break in the yearly routine. There is always the hope that this will be "the" year. Albert Weldum and Emil Lusardi are working on the Westlund lot this year, with the Westlunds.

The years have seen many changes since Martin Granholm first inaugarated the Christmas tree business back in 1931 and retailed in Chicago. He then bought trees for 5 cents each or less.

Just Wholesale

Henry Jokela became interested and decided to try it the following year. He remembers how he used to buy a tree for 7 cents and would sell it in Chicago for 50 cents to $1 25.

"If I got a dollar a tree," he says, "it was something to brag about."

At that time he rented a lot for $25 and paid from $1.59 to $2 a day, including lodging but not meals, to men who sold trees on the lot. When asked why he quit retailing and began wholesaling seven years ago, he says the overhead became too high. He said at the time he quit retailing, he paid $400 for his lot, and had to pay up to $1.50 a tree to buy it here, and men wanted at least $20 a day for selling trees on the lot.

"Let the city fellow retail, they know more about that end of the business," he said. "We country guys know more about buying out here, so we buy and wholesale, and if we do it right, it isn't as much of a gamble as retail."

Walter Manntie who retailed for many years, has been wholesaling for several years now. He gets his orders from his regular customers each year. They put in an order on how many trees they want and make a deposit long in advance. Come November, he begins cutting, so trees are fresh when hauled.

The Living Tree

Waino Bakka and Floyd Osterburg, former retailers, now only wholesale. Ivar Mattila and John Kaminen wholesale Scotch pine from their own plantations. Onni Johnson wholesaled many trees. He said many buyers just do not realize that orders have to be placed long in advance. Folks have become cautious and do not cut trees unless they are certain they will be sold. Martin Kaminen profits from the green business by doing much of the hauling.

Though many boughs are cut, the Westlunds are the only ones who locally purchased fancy and regular boughs this fall. They shipped some 200 ton to Grand Rapids, Chicago and other points.

How is the tree business? If one asked five different people, he would get five different answers. With schools, churches, stores, etc., not being allowed live trees because of the fire hazard, this has hurt the tree business. Also the many kinds of artificial trees don't help the tree market.

Yet some old timers feel that the live Christmas tree will survive all obstacles. Many folks still like the fragrance of the fresh live tree and business seems to be just as much a gamble as it always was.

McNamara Says West Can Handle Any Size Of War

PARIS (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the awesome might of the growing U.S. atomic arsenal could destroy Russian society if the West ever was subjected to a nuclear surprise attack.

He also said the North Atlantic Alliance is strong enough to fight a conventional war with the Soviet Union without plunging the world immediately into a nuclear conflict.

McNamara told the ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that new appraisals of Eastern and Western military strength showed that the West is able to take care of itself in any war, little or big.

McNamara challenged the conventional picture of a world in which the West was so hopelessly outnumbered and outgunned by hordes of Communists that Western military leaders would have to fall back at once on nuclear weapons in case of attack.

In his speech, relayed to correspondents by briefing officers, McNamara put the American case for a multitude of possible Western responses to Communists, ranging all the way from small local engagements to nuclear war.

McNamara stressed that this was not the moment for the Atlantic Alliance to slacken its efforts to build up conventional military strength. With a bit more effort, he said, the deficiencies in NATO strength could be made good now.

For years NATO has maintained a target of 30 battle-ready divisions deployed in Europe, but has never been able to reach this figure. The alliance's strength now amounts to about 23 divisions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk spoke in forceful terms of the political and military advantages of Washington's proposal for a mixed-manned, Polaris-armed surface fleet — a pet project of the late President Kennedy.

Portage Suburb Of Kalamazoo Becomes City

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Portage Township, a suburb Kalamazoo Monday night adopted a city charter by a vote of 3,976 to 1,268. The new city will be called Portage.

Portage will assume city status for its 23,000 residents on Dec. 31 with a city manager form of government.

The incorporation vote was undertaken largely as a defensive measure. The City of Kalamazoo had attempted unsuccessfully to annex Upjohn Co., a pharmaceutical firm, in 1962. The company comprises 40 per cent of Portage's tax base.

The city's first mayor will be Bernard Mein, 43, a builder and housing developer, who defeated his nearest rival, Township Supervisor John Plantefaber, by 1,100 votes.

Voters Reject School Bonds By 257 Votes

The proposal to replace the Franklin School building was rejected by voters of the Escanaba Area Public Schools district by 257 votes in Monday's special election.

The vote was 1378 yes to 1635 no, and it was the third time that voters have said no to financing a building for about 270 children in the Franklin area on the city's east end.

There are nine precincts in the City of Escanaba and one each in Wells, Cornell and Ford River townships. Together the units composed the Area School district.

Three precincts in Escanaba — 1, 2 and 9 — carried the proposition to bond for $270,000 to finance the elementary building.

Vote By Precincts

The old Franklin building was constructed in 1882 and was torn down because it was unsafe for continued use. The students are transported to three other schools in the city.

Rejection of the new building by the voters followed a campaign of opposition by a Delta County Taxpayers Committee.

The vote by precincts:

Precinct	Yes	No
1	159	64
2	136	127
3	48	56
4	106	132
5	54	100
6	149	193
7	88	118
8	57	129
9	385	234
10	123	272
11	58	167
12	30	43
Total	1378	1635

Precincts 1 and 2 are in the Franklin area and precinct 9 is Escanaba's south side.

Carried In City

Escanaba city voters carried the proposition by 14 votes — 1167 yes to 1153 no.

The board of education will meet at 8:30 tonight to canvass the vote and consider next steps to pursue in solving the Franklin replacement problem.

Dr. William Hemes, president of the school board, voiced disappointment at the defeat of the proposal and said he felt there is a need for better understanding between the board and the people of the district.

"We also need more unity among the people in the several parts of the district," he said. "The situation is not changed. We will have to replace the Franklin building. Next time we can hope that we will not run into the same type of opposition campaign in which half-truths will be used. Perhaps we will be able to make people fully understand and appreciate the need for a new building next time."

More Information

Dr. Vernon K. Johnson, the information committee chairman for the school board, said "we need to better inform the people so they will understand the plight of public education as it exists today in Escanaba."

Misrepresentations must be countered with truth. For this reason special committees that include citizens of the community are being developed, such as those for curriculum study and finance, he said.

Claude Bohn, chairman of the election coordinating committee, said he believes the election failed "because of doubts in the mind of the people about paying taxes to support public institutions."

Space Problem

"It is the responsibility of the public to provide educational facilities for the children of the community in which they live. There are just not enough people aware of the needs of the schools. They doubted there was the necessity for a school. Even those with just a 10 per cent doubt in their minds are likely to vote no," he added.

Walter Bright, superintendent of the Area Schools, said what bothers him in the election results is "the failure of our people to realize they are all part of this one district."

"We have a very practical problem ahead," he said. "There will be no Franklin building in the year ahead and we must try to solve the problem of where to put the kids. The enrollment at the new Senior High building is expected to increase and the two rooms there will probably not be available for Franklin youngsters."

Since 1959 seven propositions have been submitted to the voters of the Area school district. Two have been won; five were lost. There was one fractional victory: The assumption of Cornell's debt.

Straits Ferry Action Studied

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reports his office is ready to take the legal action necessary to assure continuance of railroad ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac.

The Coast Guard had ordered the discontinuance of such service between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace on Dec. 31. The Coast Guard contends the boilers are unsafe on the ferry "Chief Wawatam", operated by Mackinac Transport Co.

The company, which operates the ferry for the Pennsylvania, Michigan Central and Soo railroads asked for a temporary extension until some agreement could be worked out.

Kelley said he is sending a staff investigator to the straits to collect facts for possible legal action.

"This service is important not only to the residents of the immediate areas involved but to all the people of the state of Michigan," Kelley said.

Green Christmas Is Produced By Rock Community

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM

ROCK — When folks elsewhere talk about a "White" Christmas, the people in the Rock area begin to get busy with a "Green" Christmas. Though there has been a change in the business, Rock is still producing much of the boughs and Christmas trees sold in points south.

Voters Reject School Bonds By 257 Votes

The proposal to replace the Franklin School building was rejected by voters of the Escanaba Area Public Schools district by 257 votes in Monday's special election.

The vote was 1378 yes to 1635 no, and it was the third time that voters have said no to financing a building for about 270 children in the Franklin area on the city's east end.

There are nine precincts in the City of Escanaba and one each in Wells, Cornell and Ford River townships. Together the units composed the Area School district.

Three precincts in Escanaba — 1, 2 and 9 — carried the proposition to bond for $270,000 to finance the elementary building.

Vote By Precincts

The old Franklin building was constructed in 1882 and was torn down because it was unsafe for continued use. The students are transported to three other schools in the city.

Rejection of the new building by the voters followed a campaign of opposition by a Delta County Taxpayers Committee.

The vote by precincts:

Precinct	Yes	No
1	159	64
2	136	127
3	48	56
4	100	132
5	54	100
6	149	193
7	88	118
8	57	129
9	385	234
10	123	272
11	58	167
12	30	43
Total	1378	1635

Precincts 1 and 2 are in the Franklin area and precinct 9 is Escanaba's south side.

Carried In City

Escanaba city voters carried the proposition by 14 votes — 1167 yes to 1153 no.

The board of education will meet at 8:30 tonight to canvass the vote and consider next steps to pursue in solving the Franklin replacement problem.

Dr. William Hemes, president of the school board, voiced disappointment at the defeat of the proposal and said he felt there is a need for better understanding between the board and the people of the district.

"We also need more unity among the people in the several parts of the district," he said. "The situation is not changed. We will have to replace the Franklin building. Next time we can hope that we will not run into the same type of opposition campaign in which half-truths will be used. Perhaps we will be able to make people fully understand and appreciate the need for a new building next time."

More Information

Dr. Vernon K. Johnson, the information committee chairman for the school board, said "we need to better inform the people so they will understand the plight of public education as it exists today in Escanaba."

Misrepresentations must be countered with truth. For this reason special committees that include citizens of the community are being developed, such as those for curriculum study and finance, he said.

Claude Bohn, chairman of the election coordinating committee, said he believes the election failed "because of doubts in the mind of the people about paying taxes to support public institutions."

Space Problem

"It is the responsibility of the public to provide educational facilities for the children of the community in which they live. There are just not enough people aware of the needs of the schools. They doubted there was the necessity for a school. Even those with just a 10 per cent doubt in their minds are likely to vote no," he added.

Walter Bright, superintendent of the Area Schools, said what bothers him in the election results is "the failure of our people to realize they are all part of this one district."

"We have a very practical problem ahead," he said. "There will be no Franklin building in the year ahead and we must try to solve the problem of where to put the kids. The enrollment at the new Senior High building is expected to increase and the two rooms there will probably not be available for Franklin youngsters."

Since 1959 seven propositions have been submitted to the voters of the Area school district. Two have been won; five were lost. There was one fractional victory: The assumption of Cornell's debt.

Straits Ferry Action Studied

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reports his office is ready to take the legal action necessary to assure continuance of railroad ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac.

The Coast Guard had ordered the discontinuance of such service between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace on Dec. 31. The Coast Guard contends the boilers are unsafe on the ferry "Chief Wawatam", operated by Mackinac Transport Co.

The company, which operates the ferry for the Pennsylvania, Michigan Central and Soo railroads asked for a temporary extension until some agreement could be worked out.

Kelley said he is sending a staff investigator to the straits to collect facts for possible legal action.

"This service is important not only to the residents of the immediate areas involved but to all the people of the state of Michigan," Kelley said.

Kent Is Manager At Fayette Park

James Kent is the new manager of Fayette State Park,, coming there from Muskegon where he has been state park assistant manager for the past year

He succeeds Carl Freiberg who was manager at Fayette for two years and has been assigned at his request to Bay City as assistant manager. Frieberg has been in the U. P. six years with the Conservation Department.

Glenn Greg, Marquette, Conservation Department parks and recreation supervisor for the Upper Peninsula, said that Kent and his family moved into the manager's residence at Fayette State Park last week.

Kent came to Michigan from the Chicago area shortly after World War II, seeking outdoor work on the advice of doctors. In the war Kent had been captured by the Germans and was imprisoned in a concentration camp. Prior to the war he was a cost accountant.

With the Department of Conservation he was at first employed in field work as an equipment operator, served for a time as general foreman at a prison camp, and acquired a variety of skills that range from welding and mechanics to construction and photography.

Fayette State Park is unique among Michigan recreation areas, combining historical charm and the structures of a nearly century-old iron smelting town with natural scenic attractions. There is a "ghost town" museum, the iron smelters and other buildings; plus boating, a swimming beach and camping area.

The restoration and preservation of the old structures, some dating back to 1867, is one of the major objectives of the parks division, said Gregg. Kent's abilities will be helpful in the continuing development.

Labor from an honor prison camp near Cusino is used for some of the reconstruction.

Burton Is Free To Marry Liz

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Richard Burton is free today to marry Elizabeth Taylor, who may be free any day now to marry him.

Thus, the world's most publicized lovers are halfway to the altar, a trek that took two years and $40 million to accomplish.

The love affair started when Burton played Marc Antony to Liz's Cleopatra.

Sybil Burton, long - suffering wife of the swinging Welshman, got a Mexican divorce Monday and a reported settlement of $1.5 million. She also got custody of the couple's two young daughters.

Next step calls for singer Eddie Fisher to institute Mexican divorce proceedings against the raven-haired star he married after Mike Todd's death.

Anything Liz wants, she can get from Eddie. "I will do anything to make Elizabeth happy. I wish her only the best," he told a newsman.

Elizabeth's lawyer is in New York now discussing settlement terms with Eddie's lawyer. A settlement is expected momentarily. Then the lawyer — not Eddie—will go to Mexico and obtain the divorce by proxy.

Pay Raise Plan Gets Protests

LANSING (AP—Vigorous protests are expected today from two organizations representing state workers as the State Civil Service Commission reviews pay raise proposal.

The proposal — which resulted from a civil service staff study—would provide the 33,000 classified workers with a pay raise averaging slightly more than three per cent at a cost of $6.5 million to the state.

The commission is expected to rule on the proposal Wednesday. It usually approves the staff recommendation.

Protests can be expected from the 13,000- member Michigan State Employes Union (MSEU), and the 7,000-member Michigan State Employes Union (MSEU)- both of which recommended bigger increases for lower pay classifications.

The staff recommendation increases pay for most workers in state institutions only two per cent, however.

A sidelight this year on the pay proposal is the provision of the new constitution allowing the Legislature, by a two-thirds majority of both houses, to veto a pay raise approved by the commission.

Top producer of chemicals from oil and natural gas in the U. S. is Texas.

C&NW Starts Dock Repairs

The North Western Railway ended its ore shipping season at Escanaba on Monday and today crews are being augmented for the start of the annual dock repair program, which will cost about a quarter-million dollars and employ 100 men.

The ore carrier J. J. Boland cleared Escanaba at 12:50 p. m. Monday with 15,014 tons for McLouth Steel at Trenton, bringing the 1963 ore total at Escanaba to 5,057,085 tons.

There were more and larger boats docked here this year—375 compared to 354 a year ago. The average cargo this year was 7 tons greater.

Lower water levels, however, prevented many of the larger vessels from loading anywhere near their capacity.

This was the first year that any substantial tonnage of peilet ore was shipped from Escanaba. The North Western loaded out 807,996 tons this year from the Groveland mine near Iron Mountain and next year the total is expected to reach 1,250,000 tons, said L. A. McMillan, dock agent.

Court Reverses Communist Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal appeals court overturned today the conviction of the Communist party of the United States for failure to register under the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia said the government failed to prove that no volunteer was available who could register for the party under the act. It returned the case to the district court for either a new trial, if the government requests it, or directed verdict of acquittal.

Attorneys for the Communist party argued during the trial that no officer of the party could formally register it under the terms of the 1950 act without incriminating himself.

The three-judge decision said legal precedent indicates "that an organization can always find someone willing, even if not legally bound, to act for it."

Efaw was injured seriously in a head-on crash on M 66 near the Montcalm-Ionia County line in an escape attempt following the robbery, police said. They said some $300 taken from the loan company was found in his possession.

Youth, 18, Jailed For Alma Holdup

ITHACA (AP) — Roderick Efaw, 18, of St. Louis, was arraigned in his Gratiot County Jail cell Monday on a charge of robbery armed stemming from a holdup of the Family Loan Co. of Alma Dec. 2.

Efaw waived examination. He was ordered held for a Circuit Court hearing Jan. 14 after he failed to furnish $10,000 bond.

Efaw was injured seriously in a head-on crash on M 66 near the Montcalm-Ionia County line in an escape attempt following the robbery, police said. They said some $300 taken from the loan company was found in his possession.

Major U.S. Issue

When hammer-and-tongs American politicking resumes in January after the December period of grace to honor the late President Kennedy, a major policy issue will be the relationship of local governments and the federal government.

Americans have come to think that the Russian war threat is the greatest foreign problem and that job need is the top domestic problem. But an emerging issue of huge and historic importance is the new relationship of Washington to the states and communities of the nation.

A relationship was set up, of course, in the birth of the nation, but it is now under radical change because the federal government pleads that advances in communications, transportation and technology have revolutionized the relationship. As a result services which since the founding of the nation have been left to the states to provide are now becoming federal responsibilities.

Because the federal government is the creator of the states it can preempt their functions with ease and it is doing this. The process is to be seen working everywhere.

Recently the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Public Health Service held a meeting in Menominee to check pollution of the Menominee River, a field which previously has been covered by the States of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Accelerated Public Works Program provides matching federal bait money to get the local communities to build public facilities. This process is so general that most public building now waits on a check from the federal government when the project is eligible for such aid.

★ ★ ★

President Edwin P. Neilan of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce told the Detroit Economic Club recently that "The subsidies pouring out of Washington add up to billions of dollars rightfully belonging to all the taxpayers and their net effect is the corruption of the electorate. No matter how they try to disguise it, the spenders' goal is to buy enough votes to perpetuate themselves in power.

"And they're getting away with it because millions of everyday citizens either don't give a hoot about the process of democracy or want to get aboard the gravy train themselves." The subsidies, Neilan said, threaten the integrity of the forthcoming national elections.

The advocates of this new era of bigger federal government supplanting local government say that it's implementation calls for a much larger bureaucracy in Washington and of course it also calls for more federal taxes. As a result we are faced with the paradox of President Lyndon Johnson proposing federal frugality and offering a national budget which is $4 billion larger than the last one.

Most of the leaders of the Democratic party in the past quarter century have accepted the liberal position. During the past few years the Republican minority in Congress has generally accepted the conservative position. These conditions should help to define this very important issue to the electorate in next year's campaign.

What President Johnson's position will be isn't clear yet, but obviously when he calls for saving and increases the budget he has some explaining to do. His explanation will no doubt be that growth of the country requires the larger expenditure. (Defense would be cut a billion dollars.) But the pertinent question is: Is the growth of federal government necessary, or is it just a planned takeover from the states, counties and cities to concentrate more power and control in Washington?

The January budget messages to Congress will be the first skirmishes of the 1964 Presidential campaign.

"Psst---When Does Your Divorce From the West Become Final?"

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — First Republican gag on new President Lyndon Baines Johnson:

"They're rushing to bring out a new L. B. J. doll in time for the Christmas trade. Have you heard about it?"

"No. What does the doll do?"

"You wind it up and watch to see how fast it dances back and forth, from North to South, across the Mason-Dixon Line."

Victor Johnston, executive director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, did not realize until recently how far Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio has carried his economy drive.

Visiting the governor in Columbus, Johnston got a hearty invitation to lunch. He demurred, saying he did not want to take up Rhodes' time.

When the governor insisted, Johnston gave way. He turned to leave the office, sure they were heading for one of Rhodes' favorite restaurants.

Johnston was met at the door by a secretary bearing two paper sacks containing hamburgers. Said the governor:

"Come on, Vic. Let's eat at my desk."

★ ★ ★

A group of Pentagonians were discussing the report that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara might be the Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

"Who would he get as campaign manager?" someone asked.

A voice from the rear answered:

"He wouldn't need a campaign manager. He'd just rent a computer."

★ ★ ★

The postman dropped a tired-looking letter on the desk of Marshal Brock, receptionist at the Draft Goldwater Committee headquarters in Washington. The envelope was stamped like a well-traveled suitcase.

The letter contained an announcement of the July 4 Goldwater rally held in the capital under draft committee auspices. It had been sent June 3 to the Cambridge, Mass., home of Harvard Prof. J. Kenneth Galbraith, then still serving as ambassador to India under President Kennedy.

Altogether the envelope bore 15 separate post office markings, including Bombay and New Dehli in India, where it just missed Galbraith.

Granting all its travels, Goldwater workers were puzzled over the letter's long orbit stretching over six months. A bigger mystery was why it was ever sent to Galbraith in the first place.

For those congressmen who have never been through an adjournment and for those who have forgotten what adjournment is like, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., quotes a description of how conferees look in the chamber on the last day of session.

"It's right odd to look around and see the differences of faces on this occasion. Some quit, thinking they have established a name in the nation and look satisfied; some quit, right glad to get home, and know they are coming back.

"Some are restless and fidgety, with a journal under their arm to take home, to prove how punctual they were; others are soberly and sadly calculating how they can travel down from their heights of political dignity to the level of their constituents. Few have got more honor than they expected; many have got less."

The author of this clear picture? Rep. Pool reveals it was none other than the famed frontiersman, Davy Crockett who penned these words while congressman from Tennessee in 1831.

CHRISTMAS, 1963

When a man who is important to the nation dies, the Senate customarily sets aside a day for eulogies. Its purpose, I suppose, is to allow members to pour their grief into a common pool where it can be more readily shared and therefore more easily borne.

Some days ago, a friend and I were discussing what we might say and as we talked the afternoon grew dark with twilight.

Finally, my friend, turning to go, said, "Well, it's going to be hard to muster much Christmas spirit this year."

I nodded but it struck me that his tone of quiet reverence was not at all inappropriate to the holiday season.

At the moment, the nation is gripped by a sense of unity that comes only to those who have shared a profoundly moving experience. Our experience has certainly been devoid of joy but it has nurtured other things that we value highly at this time of year: understanding, sympathy, helpfulness and, yes, unity.

Four months previous to the tragedy, it seemed that the country's bulletin board had been dominated by the haters of the radical right and left — so much so that reasonable men sometimes wondered if hate had perforated the mind of the nation and sent its thoughts seeping into strange channels.

But lately, the grief-stricken faces of millions have proven what a small, pathetic minority the haters are. It is not likely that they will again win serious notice — so long as we recognize the hurt they can cause a free people.

The mood of the nation has changed. Our joy will be greatly diminished this Christmas, but so will our bitterness.

And of all the lights that burn this holiday season, perhaps the most poignant will be the small flame that flickers high on a dark hillside across the Potomac in Arlington.

THE HAPPIEST COP

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)— A friendly greeting awaits all those qualified to enter Lockbourne Air Force Base.

An air policeman on the main gate, Staff Sgt. Robert Rickard, has gotten his fellow military policemen into the habit of offering a personal spoken greeting to each vehicle as it passes after being checked.

"I don't know how it started," says Rickard, called the "happiest cop in the Air Force" by many of his friends. "Just common courtesy. I greet about 3,000 autos each morning, but payday is a real workout" (with an estimated 11,000 to 12,000 cars).

Moonshot Center Goes Up

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Deer and jackrabbits are losing out to the space age as the new $250 million Manned Spacecraft Center rises over a 1,700-acre tract on the coastal plain outside Houston.

The center's intricate electronic equipment will control America's big jump into space — the Gemini and Apollo manned moonshot efforts.

Launching of the capsules will continue at Cape Kennedy, Fla., but the countdown and flight decisions will be made in Texas, more than 1,500 miles away.

All the astronauts will train for their moon missions at the Houston center. Many already have purchased romes.

Nerve center of the operations will be the Integrated Missions Control Building on which construction crews have been laboring 16 hours a day.

The three-story structure will contain twin control rooms — one on the second floor and a duplicate directly above on the third floor. These rooms will contain equipment for controlling the moon shots, and will be linked to a worldwide network of tracking stations. From them will come the reports on how the moonshot capsules are faring in space.

Blessed by good weather and general labor harmony, contractors have the 20-odd buildings under current contract about 75 per cent completed.

From 2,000 to 2,400 construction workers have been assigned to the high priority project since ground work was broken 18 months ago.

Set Off Land Boom

From the air, the center resembles a modern college campus. A modernistic nine-story administrative building faces a six-lane highway that links the project with the Houston-Galveston Freeway, five miles to the soutr.

Around the administrative building are a variety of structures for laboratories and for testing and training in life systems, spacecraft research, systems evaluation, thermochemical processes, etc.

Construction of the complex 25 miles east of downtown Houston set off a land and development boom for a Galveston Bay area that Hurricane Carla lashed severely only two years ago.

When the National Aeronautics and Space Administration selected the site Sept. 19, 1961, only a few thousand people were living in the general area.

Forecasts now are that well over 200,000 people will be living around the center within a few years.

On Old West Ranch

The NASA project is going up on part of an old ranch dotted with oil wells. The land, owned by the Humble Oil and Refining Co., was made available to NASA through Rice University.

Private interests in the surrounding area are constructing office buildings, motels, hotels, banks, apartments and hundreds of homes.

A modern, selfcontained community — Clear Lake City — is being carved out of ranch segments flanking the space center. Long-range plans call for residental and industrial development of 15,000 acres of the ranch.

Six of the seven original Mercury astronauts have moved into the area. All but Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. have built $30,000 to $50,000 homes within five miles of the center.

The official move from temporary offices in 14 Houston buuildings is expected to come in March 1964. The Gemini missions are to begin late in 1964 or early 1965.

The master plan for the 1,700-acre site earmarks one section as a "lunar landing area," but NASA officials insist several other possible landing sites still are under study.

The background for selection of the Clear Lake site is unusual.

Humble Oil — the domestic subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey — purshased the West Ranch for about $40 million in 1938.

In 1942 Humble deeded to Houston's Rice University a 24-acre tract that included two mansions built by the West family.

When the Clear Lake site was selected in 1961, NASA announced Humble had donated 1,000 acres of the ranch to Rice "with the understanding it would be used for the NASA project."

Rice, through a property swap, made another 700 acres available.

Six months before the selection was made, Humble announced plans for Clear Lake City. Humble and Del W. Webb, a big home builder, formed the Friendswood Development Co., with Webb as the developer and operator.

Humble still is operating 92 producing wells on the West Ranch and has retained a 20-acre easement inside the 1,700 acre NASA site.

FROM THE AIR, the Manned Spacecraft Center being built on the coastal plain outside Houston, Tex., looks like a modern college campus. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration expects to move all its Gemini and Appollo moonshot operations here next March. A land boom already has resulted in one new community, Clear Lake City.

The Doctor Says:

Athlete's Foot Can Be Routed

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—What does athlete's foot look like? Is there any cure for it?

A—Athlete's foot may appear as small itching blisters that occur singly or in clusters or as areas where the skin is moist, as it often is between the toes, where the outer layers of the skin have rubbed off. It is caused by a fungus and is hard to get rid of.

It is essential to keep the affected skin clean and dry and to change socks at least once a day. Chloroxylenol, when used regularly, clears up most cases of this disease and helps prevent recurrence. It stimulates growth of healthy skin and helps to evaporate perspiration.

It works better on new infections than on those that have been established for months or years. Other older remedies are still effective. These include undecylenic acid in an aerosol spray and Whitfield's ointment (either full or half strength).

Q—Is itching in the groin and armpits caused by a fungus or a blood disease? How can I get rid of it?

A—Itching due to a systemic disease such as diabetes, jaundice or anemia would involve the whole body. When the itching is confined to areas that tend to be moist, the cause is usually a fungus. When the diagnosis has been confirmed, any of the fungicides used for athlete's foot may be used to get rid of it.

Q—My doctor says I have a chalazion. What causes it and what could I do to prevent a recurrence?

A—A chalazion is a cyst of the eyelid. It usually develops slowly and is caused by obstruction of a gland in the lid. It might be thought of as a wen on the lid. In some persons hot compresses will cause the duct of the gland to open and the cyst can be emptied but under these circumstances the cyst will probably recur. The cyst can be removed surgically and if it is removed completely, it will not return.

Q—My doctor has put me on Dilantin because my electroencephalogram showed a tendency to epilepsy although I have never had a seizure. How long can a person safely take this drug? Is it habit-forming?

A—Persons with epilepsy may take maintenance doses of diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) all their lives. This dose is the smallest dose they can take and still prevent occurrence of seizures. You would need a very small dose, if any. The drug is not habit-forming.

Q—Is it possible to determine if there is a cancer present anywhere in the body by a 24-hour urinalysis?

A—No.

Society Starts On Bird Count

MIDLAND (AP)—The Michigan Audubon Society is about to start its annual bird census.

If the experience of past years is repeated, some surprises are in store.

Birds are found in Michigan when they might properly be expected only in the warm South. Others also show up.

The bird census is to be taken on the last two weekends of December. The Society says about 450 of its members, armed with binoculars, will be out counting the species.

A Society press release indicates discoveries in advance of the census.

"Evening grosbeaks have invaded Northern Michigan by the hundreds. Only a handful of these brilliant yellow, black and white birds were seen last winter.

"Some communities, too, have reported concentrations of purple finches. Snowy owls from the far Arctic tundra have been seen in several areas."

Last year the census tallied a chestnut-sided warbler, a killdeer, bluebirds, a hermit thrush and a Virginia rail. All of them should have been South.

Memories Grow With The Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Man makes his memories, and his memories make the man.

You've been on quite a trip yourself if you can look back and remember when—

A girl could be 21 and unmarried and still not worry about being called a spinster.

Ballroom dancing was a ryhthmic and graceful partnership—instead of the individual contortions of two people seized simultaneously with fits.

People never went on a vacation until they had saved up the money to pay for it.

What was inside a Christmas package was more important than the wrapping.

Half the small kids in America wanted to grow up and be street car motormen. Today most of them have never seen a trolley.

When a woman washed her hair, it took her the rest of the day—and the help of a strong sun—to dry it.

Greater love had no husband than he who helped lace up his stout wife in a whalebone corset.

The only time many people stayed up after midnight was on Dec. 31—and they yawned all the next day.

A saloon's reputation depended on the variety and quantity of its free lunch.

Anyone who discussed religion was expected at least to have read the Bible all the way through—and be able to cite chapter and verse.

If you gave a girl more than a $2 box of candy, it was tantamount to a proposal of marriage — else why would you spend all that money on her?

It was part of growing up to be given a $5 gold piece by a favorite uncle or aunt.

When you saw a boy with a crew cut, you knew his mother must have found bugs in his hair — and had taken the easy way of getting rid of them.

Everyone was sure progress would solve all of mankind's woes.

In some persons hot compresses will cause the duct of the gland to open and the cyst can be emptied but under these circumstances the cyst will probably recur. The cyst can be removed surgically and if it is removed completely, it will not return.

Q—My doctor has put me on Dilantin because my electroencephalogram showed a tendency to epilepsy although I have never had a seizure. How long can a person safely take this drug? Is it habit-forming?

A—Persons with epilepsy may take maintenance doses of diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) all their lives. This dose is the smallest dose they can take and still prevent occurrence of seizures. You would need a very small dose, if any. The drug is not habit-forming.

Q—Is it possible to determine if there is a cancer present anywhere in the body by a 24-hour urinalysis?

A—No.

Victor Johnston, executive director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, did not realize until recently how far Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio has carried his economy drive.

Visiting the governor in Columbus, Johnston got a hearty invitation to lunch. He demurred, saying he did not want to take up Rhodes' time.

When the governor insisted, Johnston gave way. He turned to leave the office, sure they were heading for one of Rhodes' favorite restaurants.

Johnston was met at the door by a secretary bearing two paper sacks containing hamburgers. Said the governor:

"Come on, Vic. Let's eat at my desk."

The postman dropped a tired-looking letter on the desk of Marshal Brock, receptionist at the Draft Goldwater Committee headquarters in Washington. The envelope was stamped like a well-traveled suitcase.

The letter contained an announcement of the July 4 Goldwater rally held in the capital under draft committee auspices. It had been sent June 3 to the Cambridge, Mass., home of Harvard Prof. J. Kenneth Galbraith, then still serving as ambassador to India under President Kennedy.

Altogether the envelope bore 15 separate post office markings, including Bombay and New Dehli in India, where it just missed Galbraith.

Granting all its travels, Goldwater workers were puzzled over the letter's long orbit stretching over six months. A bigger mystery was why it was ever sent to Galbraith in the first place.

For those congressmen who have never been through an adjournment and for those who have forgotten what adjournment is like, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., quotes a description of how conferees look in the chamber on the last day of session.

"It's right odd to look around and see the differences of faces on this occasion. Some quit, thinking they have established a name in the nation and look satisfied; some quit, right glad to get home, and know they are coming back.

"Some are restless and fidgety, with a journal under their arm to take home, to prove how punctual they were; others are soberly and sadly calculating how they can travel down from their heights of political dignity to the level of their constituents. Few have got more honor than they expected; many have got less."

The author of this clear picture? Rep. Pool reveals it was none other than the famed frontiersman, Davy Crockett who penned these words while congressman from Tennessee in 1831.

CHRISTMAS, 1963

When a man who is important to the nation dies, the Senate customarily sets aside a day for eulogies. Its purpose, I suppose, is to allow members to pour their grief into a common pool where it can be more readily shared and therefore more easily borne.

Some days ago, a friend and I were discussing what we might say and as we talked the afternoon grew dark with twilight.

Finally, my friend, turning to go, said, "Well, it's going to be hard to muster much Christmas spirit this year."

I nodded but it struck me that his tone of quiet reverence was not at all inappropriate to the holiday season.

At the moment, the nation is gripped by a sense of unity that comes only to those who have shared a profoundly moving experience. Our experience has certainly been devoid of joy but it has nurtured other things that we value highly at this time of year: understanding, sympathy, helpfulness and, yes, unity.

Four months previous to the tragedy, it seemed that the country's bulletin board had been dominated by the haters of the radical right and left — so much so that reasonable men sometimes wondered if hate had perforated the mind of the nation and sent its thoughts seeping into strange channels.

But lately, the grief-stricken faces of millions have proven what a small, pathetic minority the haters are. It is not likely that they will again win serious notice — so long as we recognize the hurt they can cause a free people.

The mood of the nation has changed. Our joy will be greatly diminished this Christmas, but so will our bitterness.

And of all the lights that burn this holiday season, perhaps the most poignant will be the small flame that flickers high on a dark hillside across the Potomac in Arlington.

THE HAPPIEST COP

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)— A friendly greeting awaits all those qualified to enter Lockbourne Air Force Base.

An air policeman on the main gate, Staff Sgt. Robert Rickard, has gotten his fellow military policemen into the habit of offering a personal spoken greeting to each vehicle as it passes after being checked.

"I don't know how it started," says Rickard, called the "happiest cop in the Air Force" by many of his friends. "Just common courtesy. I greet about 3,000 autos each morning, but payday is a real workout" (with an estimated 11,000 to 12,000 cars).

Moonshot Center Goes Up

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Deer and jackrabbits are losing out to the space age as the new $250 million Manned Spacecraft Center rises over a 1,700-acre tract on the coastal plain outside Houston.

The center's intricate electronic equipment will control America's big jump into space — the Gemini and Apollo manned moonshot efforts.

Launching of the capsules will continue at Cape Kennedy, Fla., but the countdown and flight decisions will be made in Texas, more than 1,500 miles away.

All the astronauts will train for their moon missions at the Houston center. Many already have purchased romes.

Nerve center of the operations will be the Integrated Missions Control Building on which construction crews have been laboring 16 hours a day.

The three-story structure will contain twin control rooms — one on the second floor and a duplicate directly above on the third floor. These rooms will contain equipment for controlling the moon shots, and will be linked to a worldwide network of tracking stations. From them will come the reports on how the moonshot capsules are faring in space.

Blessed by good weather and general labor harmony, contractors have the 20-odd buildings under current contract about 75 per cent completed.

From 2,000 to 2,400 construction workers have been assigned to the high priority project since ground work was broken 18 months ago.

Set Off Land Boom

From the air, the center resembles a modern college campus. A modernistic nine-story administrative building faces a six-lane highway that links the project with the Houston-Galveston Freeway, five miles to the soutr.

Around the administrative building are a variety of structures for laboratories and for testing and training in life systems, spacecraft research, systems evaluation, thermochemical processes, etc.

Construction of the complex 25 miles east of downtown Houston set off a land and development boom for a Galveston Bay area that Hurricane Carla lashed severely only two years ago.

When the National Aeronautics and Space Administration selected the site Sept. 19, 1961, only a few thousand people were living in the general area.

Forecasts now are that well over 200,000 people will be living around the center within a few years.

On Old West Ranch

The NASA project is going up on part of an old ranch dotted with oil wells. The land, owned by the Humble Oil and Refining Co., was made available to NASA through Rice University.

Private interests in the surrounding area are constructing office buildings, motels, hotels, banks, apartments and hundreds of homes.

A modern, selfcontained community — Clear Lake City — is being carved out of ranch segments flanking the space center. Long-range plans call for residental and industrial development of 15,000 acres of the ranch.

Six of the seven original Mercury astronauts have moved into the area. All but Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. have built $30,000 to $50,000 homes within five miles of the center.

The official move from temporary offices in 14 Houston buuildings is expected to come in March 1964. The Gemini missions are to begin late in 1964 or early 1965.

The master plan for the 1,700-acre site earmarks one section as a "lunar landing area," but NASA officials insist several other possible landing sites still are under study.

The background for selection of the Clear Lake site is unusual.

Humble Oil — the domestic subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey — purshased the West Ranch for about $40 million in 1938.

In 1942 Humble deeded to Houston's Rice University a 24-acre tract that included two mansions built by the West family.

When the Clear Lake site was selected in 1961, NASA announced Humble had donated 1,000 acres of the ranch to Rice "with the understanding it would be used for the NASA project."

Rice, through a property swap, made another 700 acres available.

Six months before the selection was made, Humble announced plans for Clear Lake City. Humble and Del W. Webb, a big home builder, formed the Friendswood Development Co., with Webb as the developer and operator.

Humble still is operating 92 producing wells on the West Ranch and has retained a 20-acre easement inside the 1,700 acre NASA site.

FROM THE AIR, the Manned Spacecraft Center being built on the coastal plain outside Houston, Tex., looks like a modern college campus. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration expects to move all its Gemini and Appollo moonshot operations here next March. A land boom already has resulted in one new community, Clear Lake City.

Society Starts On Bird Count

MIDLAND (AP)—The Michigan Audubon Society is about to start its annual bird census.

If the experience of past years is repeated, some surprises are in store.

Birds are found in Michigan when they might properly be expected only in the warm South. Others also show up.

The bird census is to be taken on the last two weekends of December. The Society says about 450 of its members, armed with binoculars, will be out counting the species.

A Society press release indicates discoveries in advance of the census.

"Evening grosbeaks have invaded Northern Michigan by the hundreds. Only a handful of these brilliant yellow, black and white birds were seen last winter.

"Some communities, too, have reported concentrations of purple finches. Snowy owls from the far Arctic tundra have been seen in several areas."

Last year the census tallied a chestnut-sided warbler, a killdeer, bluebirds, a hermit thrush and a Virginia rail. All of them should have been South.

Memories Grow With The Years

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Man makes his memories, and his memories make the man.

The shorter the distance there is left too go, the more recollections there are of the journey already traveled.

You've been on quite a trip yourself if you can look back and remember when—

A girl could be 21 and unmarried and still not worry about being called a spinster.

Ballroom dancing was a ryhthmic and graceful partnership—instead of the individual contortions of two people seized simultaneously with fits.

People never went on a vacation until they had saved up the money to pay for it.

What was inside a Christmas package was more important than the wrapping.

Half the small kids in America wanted to grow up and be street car motormen. Today most of them have never seen a trolley.

When a woman washed her hair, it took her the rest of the day—and the help of a strong sun—to dry it.

Greater love had no husband than he who helped lace up his stout wife in a whalebone corset.

The only time many people stayed up after midnight was on Dec. 31—and they yawned all the next day.

A saloon's reputation depended on the variety and quantity of its free lunch.

Anyone who discussed religion was expected at least to have read the Bible all the way through—and be able to cite chapter and verse.

If you gave a girl more than a $2 box of candy, it was tantamount to a proposal of marriage — else why would you spend all that money on her?

It was part of growing up to be given a $5 gold piece by a favorite uncle or aunt.

When you saw a boy with a crew cut, you knew his mother must have found bugs in his hair — and had taken the easy way of getting rid of them.

Everyone was sure progress would solve all of mankind's woes.

Those were the days!

Ford Co. Expands For Half Billion

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is going to shell out more than half a billion dollars on expanding its facilities next year, Henry Ford II told a news conference Monday.

He said upwards of $75 million had been allocated to Michigan projects.

Some of these included:

1. — A basic oxygen steelmaking facility scheduled for completion early in 1964. It will be adjacent to, and will replace, Ford's present open hearth facilities in the Rouge area. It will be equipped with one of the largest dust collectors ever built to clean air escaping from the stacks.

Arjay Miller, Ford president, said the new plant will have a capacity of two million tons a year. He said workers now at the Ford Rouge hearth plant will be transferred to the new plant.

2 — Also underway and scheduled for completion in January is a new Michigan truck plant. Builders are adding 125,000 square feet to the former Wayne Station Wagon Plant, unused for production work since 1959, and converting the facility for the production of trucks. The new plant will employ approximately 750 people.

3 — A new automotive permance and reliability testing laboratory at the Dearborn Engineering Center will be completed in May. The 104,000 square foot laboratory will be used for testing the 15,000 parts that make up an automobile.

4 — A 39,700 square foot addition to Ford's automotive assembly division office building will be completed in April and this month a 44,000 square foot addition to the Dearborn assembly plant will be finished.

5 — Additions of 54,000 square feet to Ford's Rawsonville, Mich. plant and 77,000 square feet to its Ypsilanti plant will be completed in January. In both manufacturing plants the areas will be used for warehousing and increased manufacturing space.

6 — A 91,800 square foot addition to the Monroe plant will be completed this month and will be used for warehousing. A new major press line was installed at the Monroe plant this year and another will be added in 1964.

In the Spring, Ford and Ogelbay - Norton Co. will break ground for a taconite pelletizing plant near Eveleth, Minn. A major portion of the pellet production (concentration of low-grade iron ores) will be used in Ford steel operations. The plant eventually will produce 1.5 to 2 million tons of taconite pellets a year.

Ford, in answer to a question at his news conference, said his company has no plans to acquire Ogelbay - Norton or any other company as of now.

Edwards Given OK As Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate brushed aside opposition led by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Monday to confirm the nomination of Detroit Police Commissioner George C. Edwards as a judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, reviewed lengthy testimony before the Senate judiciary committee on the nomination. He questioned Edwards' fitness to serve on the court.

Earlier, Sens. Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara, Michigan Democrats, voiced their support of the nominee and urged his confirmation.

Edwards had been nominated for the post early in the fall by President John F. Kennedy to succeed Judge Thomas F. McAllister, Grand Rapids, Mich., who is retiring.

Confirmation came on a voice vote in which no record was made of how individual senators vote.

Decision On Jet Reversed For Iron County

CRYSTAL FALLS—At the urging of Rep. John B. Bennett, the Air Force has reversed its decision that Iron County was not eligible to receive a surplus jet aircraft.

Suggestion that a surplus jet plane be placed at the U. S. 2 entrance to Iron County's airport was presented some time ago to the board of supervisors.

Subsequently, the Air Force ruled that the county was not eligible, since under regulations only municipalities and veterans organizations were eligible to make application.

Bennett, taking an interest in the proposal, then contacted the office of the secretary of the Air Force, and this week informed Joseph Rossi, Iron County clerk, of the change in eligibility.

Colleges Get Aid To Expand

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Monday signed a bill putting the government in partnership with the nation's colleges to help them meet rapidly rising enrollments.

Johnson's pen put an end to a three-year struggle launched by the late President John F. Kennedy to provide federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. It's aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money — $690 million — is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

The remainder can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

Finally, the bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

Food Inspector Tells Kiwanians About Botulism

Major incidents in the history of botulism, a type of toxic food poisoning which jolted the Michigan fishing industry in October, were discussed for the Escanaba Kiwanis Club Monday by John Bell, regional supervisor of food inspection in the Upper Peninsula.

Bell noted that botulism comes from the earth or from vegetable matter and not from the water, and there are six types of the contamination. Sanitary laws were tightened following an outbreak of type E botulism in California in 1925 and another incident in New York in 1932 traced to smoked salmon. In March of this year, tuna packed in California was blamed for two deaths from botulism and in October the discovery of botulism in a small quantity of smoked fish proved a staggering blow to the fishing industry in Michigan.

The speaker said that careful checks by food inspectors tracked down the isolated cases of tainted products and found the cause in defective processing or canning. In Michigan, steps have been taken to insure the safety of future smoked fish production.

The program Monday was arranged by William Van Effen. Next week the club will hold their annual Christmas party for children and a special program will be presented, featuring a visit from Santa Claus.

President's Car To Be Armored?

DEARBORN (AP) — The limousine that carried John F. Kennedy to his rendezvous with death was under secret service guard here today, reportedly being refitted for further service as the official Presidential car.

The alterations are reported to include 1,600 pounds of armor plating and bullet-proof glass.

The move might mean the Secret Service has rejected an earlier proposal to place the car in the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village, also located in this Detroit suburb.

Ford Motor Co. mechanics reportedly have been instructed to equip the limousine with new brakes and a suspension system strong enough to support the armor plating. Ford officials neither confirmed nor denied that the car was in Michigan.

However, crowds of Ford employes came to the experimental garage all day today and asked to see the car. They were turned away by Ford security guards.

It was also reported that mechanics were ordered to replace the luxury auto's windshield and equip the vehicle with new carpeting. This tended to confirm reports that the windshield was damaged by bullet fragments during the assassination at Dallas Nov. 22. One source said the carpeting will cover "what appears to be a bullet hole in the floor pan."

FIGHT, THEN FLIGHT

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Police, answering a call to a restaurant, were told that two women began throwing water on each other, and that their escorts then got into a fist fight.

Dishes sailed through the air, a man at the counter got hit in the head with a plate, and another was whacked with a sugar bowl, the report went on.

During the commotion, the two couples who started the whole thing walked out without paying, employes said.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children rode the crescent moon through the sky until a voice directed them to fall off into a passing cloud.

CHAPTER 13

THE TROUBLE CAKE

THE CLOUD carried the children across half the world until it came finally to the Milky Way and gently dropped the children there.

The children found themselves sitting in a sea of stars that stretched in an unbroken path across the sky and down to the edge of the earth.

Miss Jo began to slide down the path. "It's slippery!" she cried. "Like a bamboo slide!"

Jeremy and Sissy began to slide. Before they knew it, they were all three spinning down the Milky Way—faster, faster—on and on for thousands of miles. When the slide came to an end, the three children went right on falling until plop! plunk! ploop! they landed, one after the other, in a soft white snow drift that was piled against a little red house. The door of the house flew open and a plump whiskered fellow burst out, crying, "What's this?"

The children knew without being told that they had reached Santa Land at last. They dug themselves out of the snowdrift and scrambled to Santa's side. Miss Jo threw her arms around his legs and cried, "Oh, Santa! Nog's going to kill you dead!"

Santa's mouth dropped open and he stared at her. Then he threw back his head and laughed. "Come inside. We'll have some cake and you can tell me all."

"CAKE?" cried Sissy.

"Nog's cake?" asked Jeremy in alarm.

Santa shooed them through the door. "I don't know whose cake. It just arrived and it is a very pleasant surprise. I was just about to have a piece."

He pointed to a huge chocolate-covered cake on the table by the fire. The children looked at it. Their eyes popped wide and they all began to talk at once.

"It's Nog's cake! It's filled with Hate and Greed and Powdered Trouble. It's got rattlesnake tongues in it and spider legs. "It's—"

"Wait, wait," said Santa smiling. "Suppose you tell me one at a time. Start at the beginning and tell it to the end."

He sat down and put Sissy on one knee and Miss Jo on the other. He nodded to Jeremy and said, "Now begin."

So Jeremy told how the children had gone to the Haunted House in the Kingdom of Poo and there they had seen the wicked Nog making a terrible cake for Santa because he hated Santa and Christmas and everything. If Santa ate the cake he would die and Nog would take over Santa Land.

The children went spinning down the Milky Way.

While Jeremy talked, Santa's face grew very stern. When Jeremy finished, Santa got up and took a knife and cut right through the cake. It was a dark color with a white cream filling. It looked delicious but a juicy bit of icing fell on the plate and Santa picked it up and looked at it and saw it wasn't icing at all but a squashed caterpillar's eye.

Santa was very upset. Nog had been put out of Fairyland, he said, because he was so wicked. But apparently he hadn't changed his ways so he—Santa—had better go and talk to Nog and see what could be done.

Santa put on his hat and scarf and said, "Come with me to Poo and we'll settle this right now."

"But," gasped Jeremy, "You can't go to Nog's house. It's HAUNTED!"

"Pshaw!" said Santa. "I'm not afraid of Nog's haunts."

"But—what will you do if he catches you?"

Santa took a purple stone from his pocket and held it out for all to see. "This is a charm from the Fairy Queen," he said. "It will save me, I think."

Ford Co. Expands For Half Billion

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is going to shell out more than half a billion dollars on expanding its facilities next year, Henry Ford II told a news conference Monday.

He said upwards of $75 million had been allocated to Michigan projects.

Some of these included:

1. — A basic oxygen steelmaking facility scheduled for completion early in 1964. It will be adjacent to, and will replace, Ford's present open hearth facilities in the Rouge area. It will be equipped with one of the largest dust collectors ever built to clean air escaping from the stacks.

Arjay Miller, Ford president, said the new plant will have a capacity of two million tons a year. He said workers now at the Ford Rouge hearth plant will be transferred to the new plant.

2 — Also underway and scheduled for completion in January is a new Michigan truck plant. Builders are adding 125,000 square feet to the former Wayne Station Wagon Plant, unused for production work since 1959, and converting the facility for the production of trucks. The new plant will employ approximately 750 people.

3 — A new automotive permance and reliability testing laboratory at the Dearborn Engineering Center will be completed in May. The 104,000 square foot laboratory will be used for testing the 15,000 parts that make up an automobile.

4 — A 39,700 square foot addition to Ford's automotive assembly division office building will be completed in April and this month a 44,000 square foot addition to the Dearborn assembly plant will be finished.

5 — Additions of 54,000 square feet to Ford's Rawsonville, Mich. plant and 77,000 square feet to its Ypsilanti plant will be completed in January. In both manufacturing plants the areas will be used for warehousing and increased manufacturing space.

6 — A 91,800 square foot addition to the Monroe plant will be completed this month and will be used for warehousing. A new major press line was installed at the Monroe plant this year and another will be added in 1964.

In the Spring, Ford and Ogelbay - Norton Co. will break ground for a taconite pelletizing plant near Eveleth, Minn. A major portion of the pellet production (concentration of low-grade iron ores) will be used in Ford steel operations. The plant eventually will produce 1.5 to 2 million tons of taconite pellets a year.

Ford, in answer to a question at his news conference, said his company has no plans to acquire Ogelbay - Norton or any other company as of now.

Decision On Jet Reversed For Iron County

CRYSTAL FALLS—At the urging of Rep. John B. Bennett, the Air Force has reversed its decision that Iron County was not eligible to receive a surplus jet aircraft.

Suggestion that a surplus jet plane be placed at the U. S. 2 entrance to Iron County's airport was presented some time ago to the board of supervisors.

Subsequently, the Air Force ruled that the county was not eligible, since under regulations only municipalities and veterans organizations were eligible to make application.

Bennett, taking an interest in the proposal, then contacted the office of the secretary of the Air Force, and this week informed Joseph Rossi, Iron County clerk, of the change in eligibility.

Edwards Given OK As Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate brushed aside opposition led by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Monday to confirm the nomination of Detroit Police Commissioner George C. Edwards as a judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, reviewed lengthy testimony before the Senate judiciary committee on the nomination. He questioned Edwards' fitness to serve on the court.

Earlier, Sens. Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara, Michigan Democrats, voiced their support of the nominee and urged his confirmation.

Edwards had been nominated for the post early in the fall by President John F. Kennedy to succeed Judge Thomas F. McAllister, Grand Rapids, Mich., who is retiring.

Confirmation came on a voice vote in which no record was made of how individual senators vote.

Colleges Get Aid To Expand

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Monday signed a bill putting the government in partnership with the nation's colleges to help them meet rapidly rising enrollments.

Johnson's pen put an end to a three-year struggle launched by the late President John F. Kennedy to provide federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. It's aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money — $690 million — is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

The remainder can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

Finally, the bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

President's Car To Be Armored?

DEARBORN (AP) — The limousine that carried John F. Kennedy to his rendezvous with death was under secret service guard here today, reportedly being refitted for further service as the official Presidential car.

The alterations are reported to include 1,600 pounds of armor plating and bullet-proof glass.

The move might mean the Secret Service has rejected an earlier proposal to place the car in the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village, also located in this Detroit suburb.

Ford Motor Co. mechanics reportedly have been instructed to equip the limousine with new brakes and a suspension system strong enough to support the armor plating. Ford officials neither confirmed nor denied that the car was in Michigan.

However, crowds of Ford employes came to the experimental garage all day today and asked to see the car. They were turned away by Ford security guards.

It was also reported that mechanics were ordered to replace the luxury auto's windshield and equip the vehicle with new carpeting. This tended to confirm reports that the windshield was damaged by bullet fragments during the assassination at Dallas Nov. 22. One source said the carpeting will cover "what appears to be a bullet hole in the floor pan."

FIGHT, THEN FLIGHT

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Police, answering a call to a restaurant, were told that two women began throwing water on each other, and that their escorts then got into a fist fight.

Dishes sailed through the air, a man at the counter got hit in the head with a plate, and another was whacked with a sugar bowl, the report went on.

During the commotion, the two couples who started the whole thing walked out without paying, employes said.

Food Inspector Tells Kiwanians About Botulism

Major incidents in the history of botulism, a type of toxic food poisoning which jolted the Michigan fishing industry in October, were discussed for the Escanaba Kiwanis Club Monday by John Bell, regional supervisor of food inspection in the Upper Peninsula.

Bell noted that botulism comes from the earth or from vegetable matter and not from the water, and there are six types of the contamination. Sanitary laws were tightened following an outbreak of type E botulism in California in 1925 and another incident in New York in 1932 traced to smoked salmon. In March of this year, tuna packed in California was blamed for two deaths from botulism and in October the discovery of botulism in a small quantity of smoked fish proved a staggering blow to the fishing industry in Michigan.

The speaker said that careful checks by food inspectors tracked down the isolated cases of tainted products and found the cause in defective processing or canning. In Michigan, steps have been taken to insure the safety of future smoked fish production.

The program Monday was arranged by William Van Effen. Next week the club will hold their annual Christmas party for children and a special program will be presented, featuring a visit from Santa Claus.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children rode the crescent moon through the sky until a voice directed them to fall off into a passing cloud.

CHAPTER 13

THE TROUBLE CAKE

THE CLOUD carried the children across half the world until it came finally to the Milky Way and gently dropped the children there.

The children found themselves sitting in a sea of stars that stretched in an unbroken path across the sky and down to the edge of the earth.

Miss Jo began to slide down the path. "It's slippery!" she cried. "Like a bamboo slide!"

Jeremy and Sissy began to slide. Before they knew it, they were all three spinning down the Milky Way—faster, faster—on and on for thousands of miles. When the slide came to an end, the three children went right on falling until plop! plunk! ploop! they landed, one after the other, in a soft white snow drift that was piled against a little red house. The door of the house flew open and a plump whiskered fellow burst out, crying, "What's this?"

The children knew without being told that they had reached Santa Land at last. They dug themselves out of the snowdrift and scrambled to Santa's side. Miss Jo threw her arms around his legs and cried, "Oh, Santa! Nog's going to kill you dead!"

Santa's mouth dropped open and he stared at her. Then he threw back his head and laughed. "Come inside. We'll have some cake and you can tell me all."

"CAKE?" cried Sissy.

"Nog's cake?" asked Jeremy in alarm.

Santa shooed them through the door. "I don't know whose cake. It just arrived and it is a very pleasant surprise. I was just about to have a piece."

He pointed to a huge chocolate-covered cake on the table by the fire. The children looked at it. Their eyes popped wide and they all began to talk at once.

"It's Nog's cake! It's filled with Hate and Greed and Powdered Trouble. It's got rattlesnake tongues in it and spider legs. "It's—"

"Wait, wait," said Santa smiling. "Suppose you tell me one at a time. Start at the beginning and tell it to the end."

He sat down and put Sissy on one knee and Miss Jo on the other. He nodded to Jeremy and said, "Now begin."

So Jeremy told how the children had gone to the Haunted House in the Kingdom of Poo and there they had seen the wicked Nog making a terrible cake for Santa because he hated Santa and Christmas and everything. If Santa ate the cake he would die and Nog would take over Santa Land.

The children went spinning down the Milky Way.

While Jeremy talked, Santa's face grew very stern. When Jeremy finished, Santa got up and took a knife and cut right through the cake. It was a dark color with a white cream filling. It looked delicious but a juicy bit of icing fell on the plate and Santa picked it up and looked at it and saw it wasn't icing at all but a squashed caterpillar's eye.

Santa was very upset. Nog had been put out of Fairyland, he said, because he was so wicked. But apparently he hadn't changed his ways so he—Santa—had better go and talk to Nog and see what could be done.

Santa put on his hat and scarf and said, "Come with me to Poo and we'll settle this right now."

"But," gasped Jeremy. "You can't go to Nog's house. It's HAUNTED!"

"Pshaw!" said Santa. "I'm not afraid of Nog's haunts."

"But—what will you do if he catches you?"

Santa took a purple stone from his pocket and held it out for all to see. "This is a charm from the Fairy Queen," he said. "It will save me, I think."

Ann Landers

She's Not Blind

Dear Ann Landers: Something has been troubling us girls in the office. We decided to ask you to explain the mystery. A certain woman who works with us is in her late twenties. She is highly intelligent, well-read, has a lovely face and stands about 5 feet, 10 inches — in her stocking feet.

Three months ago she began dating a homely little dried up runt who is at least six inches shorter than she is. He is a successful professional man, neat and pleasant but they make such an odd-looking couple we can't understand how she could have accepted the first date with him. The guy looks like something that should be dangling from her charm bracelet.

When they are together she stands erect, in her high heels, and seems almost proud to be seen with him. What is wrong with her? Is she blind to reality? What can she be thinking? -- FLOOR SIX INQUIRY

Dear Floor Six: She is probably thinking that he is a lovely human being with a fascinating mind and an engaging personality and that he is infinitely better company than some of the gorgeous guys who are tall, handsome and boring.

Dear Ann Landers: Someone asked you recently if your teeth were your own. I know good and well they are because of the unsympathetic way you answer people who have denture problems.

It's easy for you to sit there in Chicago with your own teeth and tell a woman in Texarkana that her husband is a stubborn mule because he refuses to go to the dentist and spend another $300 on a third set of choppers.

I've gone through the whole bit and it's murder. I lost 15 pounds while a certain dentist monkeyed around trying to get my teeth to fit. Finally I got disgusted, threw them in the ash can and went to another dentist. I told him he could make me a new set of teeth and I would pay IF they fit. He agreed, and let me tell you those teeth were absolutely perfect from the minute he put them into my mouth.

Please tell people, Ann, this is the way to get teeth that fit. Thank you.—SMILING CLYDE

Dear Clyde: My dental experts tell me that most new teeth need a minor adjustment here and there and that darned few dentists will guarantee a perfect fit from the very first chomp.

I'm glad you had such wonderful luck, however. Thank you for biting — I mean writing.

Dear Ann Landers: The man I am going with was divorced two years ago. Ward's wife was a real swinger and he sued for divorce after he walked in on her and the building superintendent. Ward was given custody of their three children with no trouble.

He does not pay her alimony and she has been supporting herself — (barely).

We plan to be married in about three months. Ward has a housekeeper who is sort of half-baked but she manages somehow to keep things going. I should tell you that I own a business and am definitely not the type who could stay at home.

Ward suggested last night that it might be a good idea to hire his ex-wife as our housekeeper. He said she would love it, and it would be very good for the kids. At first I was sure he was crazy, but after he pointed out all the advantages it didn't sound so bad. What do you think? -- MAZIE

Dear Mazie: I think he IS crazy — and if you agree to this arrangement you deserve whatever happens. I can promise you it won't be anything good.

Cobo Hall Will Change Caterers

DETROIT (AP) — The Civic Center Commission decided by a 4-1 vote Monday to give caterer Al Green's Cobo Hall contract to another caterer.

The action followed a city auditor's report that there was $58,133 in unreported sales at Green's restaurant business during nine months of last year.

Commissioner Robert B. Evans, who cast the only dissenting vote, said Green had paid the city's share of the unreported sales in immediate restitution and had given "fair and honest" service.

Dr. Herbert Asks Fewer Functions In Conservation

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Paul Herbert, chief of research for the Department of Economic Expansion, would like to see the Conservation Department shorn of some of its present functions.

Herbert, a member of Gov. George Romney's citizens committee which studied the department, submitted a separate report containing his recommendations.

He agreed in the main with the report filed by the full committee. But he said the main report did not face head-on the question of how the conservation obligations of the state can be met with the least expense to the taxpayers.

The report accepts all of the activities now carried on by the department and even adds others, Herbert said.

There is no possibility sufficient funds will be available to carry on all the practices recommended, he said. Some present department activities, he contended, could be carried on more efficiently by other state agencies.

Herbert recommended elimication or curtailment in at last five areas of present department activities. He listed these as:

Research — Research except for that necessary to aid day-to-day operations of the department should be eliminated. Research is the function of colleges universities and other research agencies.

Education — Education activities should be eliminated except information needed to explain the department's activities and policies.

Service to private owners of resources—Many public agencies now are engaged in such activities. The major effort and coordination should not be the responsibility in this field rests in the Department of Economic Expansion.

Pest control on private property—This is the responsibility of the Department of Agriculture.

Herbert also called for one change in the selection of the selection of the seven-man Conservation Commission.

"Only six should be appointed for six-year terms by the governors with the consent of the Senate," he said. "The seventh member should be appointed by the governor and hold office at his pleasure."

This change, Herbert said, would give the governor some control over the commission immediately after he takes office. At present, Herbert said, the governor only achieves some voice in department affairs as he makes appointments and then only if the appointees are approved by the Senate.

Romney appeared impressed by the idea.

Robert McLaughlin, chairman of the special study committee, also said it appeared to be a good suggestion. He said the full committee did not act on the appointment change issue because it came in late, just before the report was submitted.

Critically Ill Marquette Child Airlifted To Mayo

MARQUETTE — A Marquette child, believed to be suffering from aseptic meningitis, is a patient in the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., having been airlifted there by an aircraft from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Janet Kendricks, 7, was critically ill when taken to Sawyer late Wednesday from St. Luke's Hospital here, where she had been a patient a week.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kendricks, 442 E. Ohio St., the girl's parents, accompanied her on the flight.

The emergency call was received shortly before noon after Kendricks had exhausted every other possible means of airlift. Local civilian aircraft were unable to fly because of bad weather conditions.

The staff of Col. Daniel P. McLean, 56th Fighter Wing commander, immediately made arrangements for the mercy flight.

The aircraft used, a C-47, was at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda, on a combat support mission, when the emergency call was received at Sawyer. The plane was recalled immediately.

"This council now folds its revolutionary banners," Park told hundreds of officers at junta headquarters.

Ford Denies Political Aims

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, Ford Motor Co. board chairman, strongly denies rumors he will leave the firm to run for political office or seek a government appointment, the Detroit News reports.

Ford also pledged his support to President Johnson in efforts bridge the gap between government and business, the News said.

"I plan to devote a great many years to this company. And I am not going to run for political office. I can assure you of that," Ford told the News in an interview.

Asked about accepting an appointive office in government, Ford said."... I have not been offered such a job nor am I looking for one."

Ford was among a group of the nation's business and industrial leaders who met with President Johnson shortly after the assassination of President K nedy.

"While I think it is too early to tell exactly what is going to happen, my first impression is that the present administration certainly will not be vindictive toward business and will be as helpful to business as it is to all other sectors of the economy," Ford said.

Ford said he now considers himself a "political independent," although he was an outspoken supporter of former President Eisenhower and voted for Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate in 1960.

He said he had contributed financially to the Kennedy-Johnson administration, but declined to say how much he had contributed.

Ford said he felt the auto industry now is established firmly at a production level of 7 million cars a year.

Dr. Herbert Asks Fewer Functions In Conservation

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Paul Herbert, chief of research for the Department of Economic Expansion, would like to see the Conservation Department shorn of some of its present functions.

Herbert, a member of Gov. George Romney's citizens committee which studied the department, submitted a separate report containing his recommendations.

He agreed in the main with the report filed by the full committee. But he said the main report did not face head-on the question of how the conservation obligations of the state can be met with the least expense to the taxpayers.

The report accepts all of the activities now carried on by the department and even adds others, Herbert said.

There is no possibility sufficient funds will be available to carry on all the practices recommended, he said. Some present department activities, he contended, could be carried on more efficiently by other state agencies.

Herbert recommended elimiccation or curtailment in at last five areas of present department activities. He listed these as:

Research — Research except for that necessary to aid day-to-day operations of the department should be eliminated. Research is the function of colleges universities and other research agencies.

Education — Education activities should be eliminated except information needed to explain the department's activities and policies.

Service to private owners of resources—Many public agencies now are engaged in such activities. The major effort and coordination should not be the responsibility in this field rests in the Department of Economic Expansion.

Pest control on private property—This is the responsibility of the Department of Agriculture.

Herbert also called for one change in the selection of the selection of the seven-man Conservation Commission.

"Only six should be appointed for six-year terms by the governors with the consent of the Senate," he said. "The seventh member should be appointed by the governor and hold office at his pleasure."

This change, Herbert said, would give the governor some control over the commission immediately after he takes office. At present, Herbert said, the governor only achieves some voice in department affairs as he makes appointments and then only if the appointees are approved by the Senate.

Romney appeared impressed by the idea.

Robert McLaughlin, chairman of the special study committee, also said it appeared to be a good suggestion. He said the full committee did not act on the appointment change issue because it came in late, just before the report was submitted.

Critically Ill Marquette Child Airlifted To Mayo

MARQUETTE — A Marquette child, believed to be suffering from aseptic meningitis, is a patient in the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., having been airlifted there by an aircraft from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Janet Kendricks, 7, was critically ill when taken to Sawyer late Wednesday from St. Luke's Hospital here, where she had been a patient a week.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kendricks, 442 E. Ohio St., the girl's parents, accompanied her on the flight.

The emergency call was received shortly before noon after Kendricks had exhausted every other possible means of airlift. Local civilian aircraft were unable to fly because of bad weather conditions.

The staff of Col. Daniel P. McLean, 56th Fighter Wing commander, immediately made arrangements for the mercy flight.

The aircraft used, a C-47, was at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda, on a combat support mission, when the emergency call was received at Sawyer. The plane was recalled immediately.

Holiday Dinner Festive Turkey Easy To Prepare

The piece de resistance for any holiday table is the All-American favorite, roast turkey It is as much a part of the holiday scene as evergreen boughs and Santa Claus. Preparing a roast turkey need not be so time consuming as to take all the joy out of the holidays, either.

Today's turkeys are easy to roast to a beautiful golden brown in much less time than turkeys a few years ago. There is no need any longer for elaborate sewing and trussing. Almost all of today's turkeys come with a band of skin at the tail; drumsticks are neatly tucked under this band of skin. This eliminates the need for sewing and holds the stuffing in nicely.

Simple Garnish

Plan your holiday cooking schedule so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before it is to be served. It will carve easier and allow ample time for gravy making and getting last minute foods on the table.

Don't crowd the turkey platter with too much garnish. For a "Merry Christmas" garnish, use crisp parsley, preserved kumquats and bright red maraschino cherries.

There are many of the winter vegetables that go beautifully with turkey. Cream small white onions and sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese. Try mashed sweet potatoes, seasoned with melted butter or margarine and a small amount of orange juice. Add some grated orange peel and fold in broken walnuts.

Roast Turkey

It should be remembered that a timetable is merely a guide to total roasting time. Differences in individual birds may necessitate increasing or decreasing cooking times slightly.

Turkeys of any size may be roasted. Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, no basting, no cover and no searing. Always roast turkey done in one continuous cooking period.

Low temperatures assure better flavor and appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices. A shallow, open pan allows the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly. A rack at least ½ inch high raises the bird off the bottom of the pan, keeping it out of the juices.

For best results, follow these simple steps:

1. Preheat oven to 325° F (slow).

2 Rinse bird with cold water, drain and pat dry. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt, if desired. Do not salt if stuffed.

3. Fill wishbone area (neck) with stuffing, if used. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Fill cavity lightly, if stuffing is used. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present; or tie them to tail.

4 Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan, breast side up. Brush skin with fat. If a roast meat thermometer is to be used, insert it so that the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast meat. Be sure that the bulb does not touch bone.

5. Place in preheated oven. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings — especially any dry areas. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord or band of skin at drumsticks. Place a loose covering of aluminum foil over the turkey to prevent excessive browning. Continue roasting until done.

6. To test doneness, a roast meat thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast muscle should register approximately 185° F. If stuffing is used, it should register 165° F at the same time. Turkey is done when thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

Holiday Dinner Festive Turkey Easy To Prepare

The piece de resistance for any holiday table is the All-American favorite, roast turkey It is as much a part of the holiday scene as evergreen boughs and Santa Claus. Preparing a roast turkey need not be so time consuming as to take all the joy out of the holidays, either.

Today's turkeys are easy to roast to a beautiful golden brown in much less time than turkeys a few years ago. There is no need any longer for elaborate sewing and trussing. Almost all of today's turkeys come with a band of skin at the tail; drumsticks are neatly tucked under this band of skin. This eliminates the need for sewing and holds the stuffing in nicely.

Simple Garnish

Plan your holiday cooking schedule so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before it is to be served. It will carve easier and allow ample time for gravy making and getting last minute foods on the table.

Don't crowd the turkey platter with too much garnish. For a "Merry Christmas" garnish, use crisp parsley, preserved kumquats and bright red maraschino cherries.

There are many of the winter vegetables that go beautifully with turkey. Cream small white onions and sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese. Try mashed sweet potatoes, seasoned with melted butter or margarine and a small amount of orange juice. Add some grated orange peel and fold in broken walnuts.

Roast Turkey

It should be remembered that a timetable is merely a guide to total roasting time. Differences in individual birds may necessitate increasing or decreasing cooking times slightly.

Turkeys of any size may be roasted. Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, no basting, no cover and no searing. Always roast turkey done in one continuous cooking period.

Low temperatures assure better flavor and appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices. A shallow, open pan allows the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly. A rack at least ½ inch high raises the bird off the bottom of the pan, keeping it out of the juices.

For best results, follow these simple steps:

1. Preheat oven to 325° F (slow).

2 Rinse bird with cold water, drain and pat dry. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt, if desired. Do not salt if stuffed.

3. Fill wishbone area (neck) with stuffing, if used. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Fill cavity lightly, if stuffing is used. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present; or tie them to tail.

4 Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan, breast side up. Brush skin with fat. If a roast meat thermometer is to be used, insert it so that the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast meat. Be sure that the bulb does not touch bone.

5. Place in preheated oven. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings — especially any dry areas. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord or band of skin at drumsticks. Place a loose covering of aluminum foil over the turkey to prevent excessive browning. Continue roasting until done.

6. To test doneness, a roast meat thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast muscle should register approximately 185° F. If stuffing is used, it should register 165° F at the same time. Turkey is done when thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers

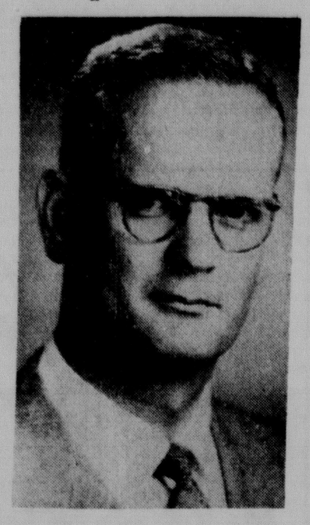
Peninsula Planning For Growth Unprecedented

Counties of the Upper Peninsula reported general progress in development of economic plans in a report of delegates at the quarterly meeting of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems here Saturday to President Lynn Sandberg of L'Anse.



Lynn Sandberg

Menominee

Steve Kakuk of Stephenson said Menominee County has helped promote the R. J. Enstrom Co., which now has a federally approved helicopter for manufacturing and is engaged in financing the switch from experimental development and prototype preparation to commercial production.

Menominee County's Planning Commission has also devoted itself to promotion of agricultural enterprise and tourism, with special emphasis in the latter field on the development of Shakey Lakes west of Stephenson as a tourist attraction as well as an outdoor play area for residents. The chain of lakes is the county's best inland layout for water skiing, said Kakuk.

Gogebic

Bob Ray, Gogebic County delegate to UPCAP, said Gogebic with federal aid has hired the professional consultants, Williams & Works, and with their aid completed its continuing economic plan and had it accepted in Washington. Five hundred copies of the continuing Overall Economic Development Plan and 1,500 summaries were made available to the public.

The 11 committees of the Gogebic Planning Commission are working on their assignments.

The commission describes its needs as, capital, both private and governmental; a professional planner; better communications between federal, state and local agencies, and overcoming of sectionalism of its communities and the apathy of its people and their resistance to change.

Federal funds are sought for the second phase of the economic recovery program which plans to provide a Gogebic Range water supply and to impound water near the Copper Peak ski flying hill to create a recreational complex, consolidation of the county's school systems, and creation of a regional college.

Alger

Supv. Frank Mead of Burt Township, Grand Marais, the Alger delegate to UPCAP, said its top priority has been given to promotion of the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore from Munising to Grand Marais. "The whole county has come out for the park," said Mead, "the board of supervisors is for it and 90 pct. of Alger's people are for it. It would create 350 jobs and be worth a million dollars a year in publicity to the U. P."

"We need 10 places like it in the U. P. for our tourism," said Harold Dettman, Mackinac County delegate. "Mackinac Island isn't enough.

Delta

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba said Delta County has launched its Bay de Noc Community College and has Michigan Tech testing stone to be quarried on the Garden Peninsula to create a new construction materials industry.

The new Delta County Jail is under construction and a federal project to cut a channel to the Kipling oil terminal and create a turning basin has been approved by the House-Senate conference committee in Congress.

Mackinac

Harold Dettman of St. Ignace, said the Mackinac County Planning would recommend to the Jan. 2 meeting of the Mackinac County Board of Supervisors that a professional planning firm to hired to plan county development under the Federal 701 program. Plans will be prepared, he said, for several new townships.

In St. Ignace an Industrial Development Corporation has been created and it has prepared an industrial brochure. "There are now 150 industrial development corporations in Michigan all bidding for the same things," said Dettman.

"We are building two marinas with Accelerated Public Works money—The St. Ignace marina was $46,000 over the estimated price and the Michigan Waterways Commission is going to provide the additional funds. The second marina is at Hessel."

Mackinac's new Medical Care Facility will open in January. It adjoins the hospital, adding 39 beds to the hospital's 19 beds, and will be administered by the hospital head, and sell the hospital its meals and laundry services (it's entitled to surplus foods) and buy its heat from the hospital. The joint project was assisted by Federal Hill-Burton Act (hospital aid) funds.

Mackinac is also working on retention of the Mackinac Transportation Co. railroad carferry services between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, which is threatened with discontinuance because the ferry Chief Watwatam needs boiler repairs to pass Coast Guard safety standards.

"Our greatest impediment in Mackinac County in planning and development," said Dettman "is distance. The county is 125 miles long."

Ontonagon

Donald Munro, delegate of Ontonagon County and treasured of UPCAP, said that the Ontonagon County Planning Commission's top priority project for the past 3 years has been Ontonagon harbor development. A $75,000 item for planning an Army Corps of Engineers development project was struck from an appropriations bill in a House - Senate conference a week ago, said Munro, dashing hopes that the planning be done in 1964 and the work in 1965.

"Ontonagon County is blessed with a small unemployment problem," said Munro. "White Pine Copper Co. is providing employment for persons living in 7 Upper Peninsula counties and 3 in Wisconsin. White Pine and Hoener Boxes (the paper mill at Ontonagon) would increase their employment if this harbor were developed so they could receive coal and ship paper and copper. To say that we're depressed by defeat of this harbor appropriation is putting it mildly."

Iron

Edward Jacobs of the Iron County Planning Commission said that it had just completed an education study which showed that one school district for the county would be ideal. Also developed was a proposal for two school districts for the county, which now has 6. A single high school would top the single district plan.

The Iron County Board of Supervisors has appropriated $10,000 and set up a committee to create a county tax department in 1964. Citizens committees are also being formed to draw from citizens organizations personnel for the accomplishment of civic projects. "The problem now is to coordinate the work of study groups which started before the Iron County Planning Commmission was organized," said Jacobs.

Houghton

Kenneth Dorman said Houghton County has not organized a planning commission yet, but that a steering committee for this purpose has been created with William Veeser as temporary chairman. Dorman said that the Calumet & Hecla opening of the Kingston Lode looked like a major economic benefit to the Copper Country as the ore was producing 39 pounds of copper to the ton and the ore body was large.

He said that Michigan Tech was working to attract students through the offering of instruction in special scientific techniques and that this held much promise for the development of the university at Houghton.

Dorman urged that the U. P. counties restrict themselves to employment of a few consulting firms to aid them with their economic planning as such a concentration could effect some economies and efficiencies.

Baraga

Lynn Sandberg, Baraga County delegate and president of UPCAP, said Baraga had brought schools, industry and government into coordinated planning and that a significant result had been the training schools for workers. Cooks and bakers and lumber graders schools have been held and a lumber technicians school and a sawmill operators school is planned at the Ford Forestry Center of Michigan Tech at Alberta.

County developments underway include building of parks and boat shelters, trailer and campgrounds, timber stand improvement work on state and federal forests, extension of telephone service, and creation of new fishing and recreation sites.

"Our company (Celotex Corp. at L'Anse) has extended and improved its plant effluent disposal, we have a new nursing home, a new wing on the hospital and we plan new schools at L'Anse and Baraga, and a county road program."

Holiday Travel Caution Urged

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department offers its advice to those planning Christmas holiday trips.

An unusual high proportion of accidents happen during the first 90 minutes of a trip, said the department, so motorists should be especially cautious for the first 50 miles.

If possible, motorists should choose a freeway because limited access routes have proven to be four or five times safer than ordinary highways, the department said.

A mechanical check is important because mechanical defects often show up on a long, hard drive. Special attention should be given the tires, the department added, because proper inflation gives better tire mileage and assures better control in emergencies.

The department also suggested that those driving west should plan to eat dinner about 45 minutes before sunset to avoid unnecessary glare.

Williams Says He Hasn't Heard Michigan Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, said Monday he does not know anything about reports he might run for governor of Michigan again next year.

There have been published reports that a member of the personal staff of President Johnson had approached Michigan Democrats about getting Williams to oppose Gov. George Romney, a Republican.

Williams, a former Michigan governor, returned from Africa Sunday. Asked about the reports, he said:

"I just got back from Africa and don't know anything about this."

Mackie Avoids Comment On His Political Aims

DETROIT (AP)—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie again avoided a direct answer Monday night whether he'd seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mackie, here to listen to complaints over the selection of Ten Mile Road for the I 696 expressway in south Oakland County, said:

"I have more pressing problems now. Any political announcement will have to wait until next year."

Mackie appeared on a WWJ-TV "Town Meeting" program on the expressway. Representatives of a number of Detroit suburbs complained over the Ten Mile Road choice.

Blast Kills 9 In Utah Mine

HELPER, Utah (AP) — Nine coal miners were killed and another injured Monday in an explosion in what was described as a "model mine in the West."

The blast occurred at the face, or end, of one of two shafts which branch out rom the end of a 2,800-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community.

'They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. "They fell right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine exploison at Moab, about 100 miles south of Helper.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police will operate special road patrols in an effort to cut down on highway accidents during the 36 - hour Christmas and New Year's periods.

All available uniformed troopers will be on duty from noon Tuesday, Dec. 31, until midnight Jan. 1, and will be assisted by 106 National Guardsmen.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs warned that the crush of drivers and pedestrians over the holidays adds to the normal hazards of December, usually one of the most dangerous months of the year.

There were 22 persons killed in highway accidents over the Christmas weekend last year. Another 20 died over the New Year's weekend.

The mid - week dates for both holidays this year is expected to cut down on the toll. Six years ago, when the holidays also fell in mid-week, 12 were killed over the Christmas period and three over New Year's.

City Will Help Flood Victims

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Victims of the Baldwin Hills Reservoir disaster got a word of encouragement—and a promise of money — from Mayor Samuel Yorty.

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday.

"They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Yorty's promise of help came as a residents and businessmen picked through the mud-slick rubble below the now-empty reservoir.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

Cleanup crews hauling away the mud and debris also watched for a possible fourth victim of the swirling flood waters.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald told rescuers her husband, Archie, 70, was snatched from their home by the torrent as she watched helplessly. She said she has been unable to locate him since.

Alliance Urged To Back Russia

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has called on the North Atlantic Alliance to support the Soviet Union in its "fundamental and far - reaching" split with Communist China.

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) Ministerial Council Monday:

"In the quarrel between Chinese militancy and Russia's peaceful coexistence, our interest is to see that Moscow prevails....We must not allow militancy to pay dividends."

Although he conceded the NATO allies were a long way from resolving differences with Russia, he said: "We in the West should let Moscow know that we are interested in peaceful coexistence."

Rusks's view found some support immediately from the foreign ministers of Canada, Belgium and Italy.

However, French Foreign Minster Maurice Couve de Murville cautioned that the Kremlin would not be influenced by outsiders. And British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler, said he doubted the quarrel would drive Russia "into the arms of the West."

The 11 committees of the Gogebic Planning Commission are working on their assignments.

The commission describes its needs as, capital, both private and governmental; a professional planner; better communications between federal, state and local agencies, and overcoming of sectionalism of its communities and the apathy of its people and their resistance to change.

Federal funds are sought for the second phase of the economic recovery program which plans to provide a Gogebic Range water supply and to impound water near the Copper Peak ski flying hill to create a recreational complex, consolidation of the county's school systems, and creation of a regional college.

Alger

Supv. Frank Mead of Burt Township, Grand Marais, the Alger delegate to UPCAP, said its top priority has been given to promotion of the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore from Munising to Grand Marais. "The whole county has come out for the park," said Mead, "the board of supervisors is for it and 90 pct. of Alger's people are for it. It would create 350 jobs and be worth a million dollars a year in publicity to the U. P."

"We need 10 places like it in the U. P. for our tourism," said Harold Dettman, Mackinac County delegate. "Mackinac Island isn't enough.

Delta

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba said Delta County has launched its Bay de Noc Community College and has Michigan Tech testing stone to be quarried on the Garden Peninsula to create a new construction materials industry.

The new Delta County Jail is under construction and a federal project to cut a channel to the Kipling oil terminal and create a turning basin has been approved by the House-Senate conference committee in Congress.

Mackinac

Harold Dettman of St. Ignace, said the Mackinac County Planning would recommend to the Jan. 2 meeting of the Mackinac County Board of Supervisors that a professional planning firm to hired to plan county development under the Federal 701 program. Plans will be prepared, he said, for several new townships.

In St. Ignace an Industrial Development Corporation has been created and it has prepared an industrial brochure. "There are now 150 industrial development corporations in Michigan all bidding for the same things," said Dettman.

"We are building two marinas with Accelerated Public Works money—The St. Ignace marina was $46,000 over the estimated price and the Michigan Waterways Commission is going to provide the additional funds. The second marina is at Hessel."

Mackinac's new Medical Care Facility will open in January. It adjoins the hospital, adding 39 beds to the hospital's 19 beds, and will be administered by the hospital head, and sell the hospital its meals and laundry services (it's entitled to surplus foods) and buy its heat from the hospital. The joint project was assisted by Federal Hill-Burton Act (hospital aid) funds.

Mackinac is also working on retention of the Mackinac Transportation Co. railroad carferry services between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, which is threatened with discontinuance because the ferry Chief Watwatam needs boiler repairs to pass Coast Guard safety standards.

"Our greatest impediment in Mackinac County in planning and development," said Dettman "is distance. The county is 125 miles long."

Ontonagon

Donald Munro, delegate of Ontonagon County and treasured of UPCAP, said that the Ontonagon County Planning Commission's top priority project for the past 3 years has been Ontonagon harbor development. A $75,000 item for planning an Army Corps of Engineers development project was struck from an appropriations bill in a House - Senate conference a week ago, said Munro, dashing hopes that the planning be done in 1964 and the work in 1965.

"Ontonagon County is blessed with a small unemployment problem," said Munro. "White Pine Copper Co. is providing employment for persons living in 7 Upper Peninsula counties and 3 in Wisconsin. White Pine and Hoener Boxes (the paper mill at Ontonagon) would increase their employment if this harbor were developed so they could receive coal and ship paper and copper. To say that we're depressed by defeat of this harbor appropriation is putting it mildly."

Iron

Edward Jacobs of the Iron County Planning Commission said that it had just completed an education study which showed that one school district for the county would be ideal. Also developed was a proposal for two school districts for the county, which now has 6. A single high school would top the single district plan.

The Iron County Board of Supervisors has appropriated $10,000 and set up a committee to create a county tax department in 1964. Citizens committees are also being formed to draw from citizens organizations personnel for the accomplishment of civic projects. "The problem now is to coordinate the work of study groups which started before the Iron County Planning Commmission was organized," said Jacobs.

Houghton

Kenneth Dorman said Houghton County has not organized a planning commission yet, but that a steering committee for this purpose has been created with William Veeser as temporary chairman. Dorman said that the Calumet & Hecla opening of the Kingston Lode looked like a major economic benefit to the Copper Country as the ore was producing 39 pounds of copper to the ton and the ore body was large.

He said that Michigan Tech was working to attract students through the offering of instruction in special scientific techniques and that this held much promise for the development of the university at Houghton.

Dorman urged that the U. P. counties restrict themselves to employment of a few consulting firms to aid them with their economic planning as such a concentration could effect some economies and efficiencies.

Baraga

Lynn Sandberg, Baraga County delegate and president of UPCAP, said Baraga had brought schools, industry and government into coordinated planning and that a significant result had been the training schools for workers. Cooks and bakers and lumber graders schools have been held and a lumber technicians school and a sawmill operators school is planned at the Ford Forestry Center of Michigan Tech at Alberta.

County developments underway include building of parks and boat shelters, trailer and campgrounds, timber stand improvement work on state and federal forests, extension of telephone service, and creation of new fishing and recreation sites.

"Our company (Celotex Corp. at L'Anse) has extended and improved its plant effluent disposal, we have a new nursing home, a new wing on the hospital and we plan new schools at L'Anse and Baraga, and a county road program."

Holiday Travel Caution Urged

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department offers its advice to those planning Christmas holiday trips.

An unusual high proportion of accidents happen during the first 90 minutes of a trip, said the department, so motorists should be especially cautious for the first 50 miles.

If possible, motorists should choose a freeway because limited access routes have proven to be four or five times safer than ordinary highways, the department said.

A mechanical check is important because mechanical defects often show up on a long, hard drive. Special attention should be given the tires, the department added, because proper inflation gives better tire mileage and assures better control in emergencies.

The department also suggested that those driving west should plan to eat dinner about 45 minutes before sunset to avoid unnecessary glare.

Williams Says He Hasn't Heard Michigan Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, said Monday he does not know anything about reports he might run for governor of Michigan again next year.

There have been published reports that a member of the personal staff of President Johnson had approached Michigan Democrats about getting Williams to oppose Gov. George Romney, a Republican.

Williams, a former Michigan governor, returned from Africa Sunday. Asked about the reports, he said:

"I just got back from Africa and don't know anything about this."

Mackie Avoids Comment On His Political Aims

DETROIT (AP)—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie again avoided a direct answer Monday night whether he'd seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mackie, here to listen to complaints over the selection of Ten Mile Road for the I 696 expressway in south Oakland County, said:

"I have more pressing problems now. Any political announcement will have to wait until next year."

Mackie appeared on a WWJ-TV "Town Meeting" program on the expressway. Representatives of a number of Detroit suburbs complained over the Ten Mile Road choice.

Blast Kills 9 In Utah Mine

HELPER, Utah (AP) — Nine coal miners were killed and another injured Monday in an explosion in what was described as a "model mine in the West."

The blast occurred at the face, or end, of one of two shafts which branch out rom the end of a 2,800-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community.

'They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. "They fell right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine exploison at Moab, about 100 miles south of Helper.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

Special Safety Patrols Ready

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police will operate special road patrols in an effort to cut down on highway accidents during the 36 - hour Christmas and New Year's periods.

All available uniformed troopers will be on duty from noon Tuesday, Dec. 31, until midnight Jan. 1, and will be assisted by 106 National Guardsmen.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs warned that the crush of drivers and pedestrians over the holidays adds to the normal hazards of December, usually one of the most dangerous months of the year.

There were 22 persons killed in highway accidents over the Christmas weekend last year. Another 20 died over the New Year's weekend.

The mid - week dates for both holidays this year is expected to cut down on the toll. Six years ago, when the holidays also fell in mid-week, 12 were killed over the Christmas period and three over New Year's.

City Will Help Flood Victims

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Victims of the Baldwin Hills Reservoir disaster got a word of encouragement—and a promise of money — from Mayor Samuel Yorty.

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday.

"They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Damage from Saturday's devastating flood could run to more than $10 million dollars, officials estimate.

Yorty's promise of help came as a residents and businessmen picked through the mud-slick rubble below the now-empty reservoir.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

Cleanup crews hauling away the mud and debris also watched for a possible fourth victim of the swirling flood waters.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald told rescuers her husband, Archie, 70, was snatched from their home by the torrent as she watched helplessly. She said she has been unable to locate him since.

Alliance Urged To Back Russia

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has called on the North Atlantic Alliance to support the Soviet Union in its "fundamental and far - reaching" split with Communist China.

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) Ministerial Council Monday:

"In the quarrel between Chinese militancy and Russia's peaceful coexistence, our interest is to see that Moscow prevails....We must not allow militancy to pay dividends."

Although he conceded the NATO allies were a long way from resolving differences with Russia, he said: "We in the West should let Moscow know that we are interested in peaceful coexistence."

Rusks's view found some support immediately from the foreign ministers of Canada, Belgium and Italy.

However, French Foreign Minster Maurice Couve de Murville cautioned that the Kremlin would not be influenced by outsiders. And British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler, said he doubted the quarrel would drive Russia "into the arms of the West."

Loyola Keeps Top Collegiate Ranking

Loyola of Chicago had to go to overtime to beat Detroit and just managed to down Western Michigan by three points last week. That failed, however, to dim the admiration of the experts who once again voted the Ramblers the nation's No. 1 college basketball team by a wide margin.

Most of the other teams in last week's Top Ten weren't quite as fortunate in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Four teams — Arizona State, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas —fell out altogether.

NYU dropped from second to seventh and Duke slipped from third to fifth.

Big gains were made by Kentucky, which jumped from fifth to the runner-up spot; Michigan, which rose from seventh to third and Cincinnati, which advanced from sixth to fourth.

Newcomers to the Top Ten were UCLA, ranked sixth; Vanderbilt eighth, Toledo ninth and Davidson 10th.

Loyola, which is averaging over 100 points per game in four straight victories, received 34 of the 43 first-place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters to finish on top with 417 points.

The only other quintets to receive first - place votes were Kentucky with five, Michigan three and Toledo one.

Kentucky, now 5-0, was impressive with triumphs of 100-80 over North Carolina and 101-65 over Baylor. Michigan matched Kentucky's record with 80-70 and 104-81 victories over Butler and Western Michigan.

Cincinnati, in its only game last week, beat Wisconsin 65-50 to boost its mark to 3-1. Duke lost to Vanderbilt 97-92 in overtime, then beat Clemson 75-72. The Blue Devils' record is 4-1.

NYU lost to Toledo 87-74 at Madison Square Garden and just managed to beat little Fairleigh Dickinson 67-58 for a 4-1 record.

UCLA, Toledo and Davidson all are unbeaten. UCLA won its fourth straight, downing Kansas 74-54. Toledo's surprising triumph over NYU boosted its mark to 6-0. Davidson climbed to 5-0 knocking off Ohio State 95-73.

Only two members of the Top Ten saw action Monday night, and both won. Chicago Loyola outclassed South Dakota 112-68 and Duke defeated South Carolina 77-70. The balloting is based on results through last Saturday.

Peters, Ford Share Honor

BOSTON (AP)—Rookie Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox and veteran Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, both lefthanders, shared American League pitching honors in 1963, the final official averages showed today.

Peters captured the earned run title with a 2.33 average, edging teammate Juan Pizarro, another southpaw, who finished with 2.39. Peters, who had a 19-8 record, is the first rookie to win an AL ERA championship since Gene Bearden of Cleveland in 1948.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota was third last season with 2.47. He was followed by two young Yankee pitchers, Jim Bouton, 2.53, and Al Downing, 2.56. Then came Lee Stange, Minnesota, 2.62, and Ford with 2.74.

Ford won the most games, 24, and had the highest won-lost percentage, .774. The Yankees' ace lost only seven times. He also was the league's workhorse, pitching 269 innings.

Pascual struck out the most batters for the third straight season, 202, and shared with New York's Ralph Terry he lead in complete games, each with 18.

Parseghian Walks Out On Notre Dame Confab

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The door may remain open at Notre Dame for Ara Parseghian to enter as head football coach.

But if it is closed, who did it — Notre Dame or Parseghian?

The strangest episode in coaching has taken place.

Father Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president, announced Saturday that Northwestern's Parseghian has become the new coach of the Fighting Irish, succeeding Hugh Devore, who was elevated to assistant athletic director.

A news conference Monday for official signings of a four-year contract never materialized.

After a delay of more than two hours, Parseghian appeared from a meeting with Father Joyce. The usual voluble, dynamic 40-year-old coach appeared distraught and shaken.

In a written statement, he said that a story Saturday in the South Bend Tribune naming him as the new Notre Dame coach touched off his decision to agree to the job.

But, he said, the story was premature and came when details of the contract were not fully worked out. Therefore, he wanted a few more days to have it resolved.

With that, and no more elaboration, he left by car for his home near Northwestern University, where he has served as coach for eight years.

All this amounted to a walkout on final negotiations with Father Joyce, who remained firmly noncommittal on their meeting.

Parseghian returned home, went to his bedroom and refused to be disturbed.

With neither side clarifying the matter, speculation was rife. Father Joyce had a brisk "no comment" when asked if Parseghian had:

1. Wanted assurance eventually of becoming athletic director.

2. Wanted complete freedom to name his assistants and their salaries, including a hefty pay check for his No. 1 lieutenant, Alex Agase, if Agase were not chosen as his successor at Northwestern.

3. Wanted an unhampered hand in recruting with the aid of more than the 30 to 35 athletic scholarships Notre Dame now has available.

Father Joyce, asked point-blank if Parseghian would be the next Notre Dame coach, said "At this time I really can't say."

Meanwhile, Northwestern's athletic director, Stu Holcomb, said that Parseghian never had resigned officially and still had one more year to go on a five year contract.

Nothing To Say Only Comment By Parseghian

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A wizard at teaching explosive football offense, Northwestern University coach Ara Parseghian was a master of restraint and lack of comment on a widely heralded job change Monday night.

He had "no comment," on the derailment of an announced switch to Notre Dame.

Parseghian said "I have nothing to say beyond the statement I made after meeting with Fr. (Edmund) Joyce earlier today."

The statement blamed a premature newspaper story for casting sand in the gears of a plan to install Parseghian as coach of the Fighting Irish.

The 40 - year - old Parseghian was in Grand Rapids for a speaking engagement on Stag Night at the Peninsular Club, a plush headquarters for the city's leading businessmen and industrialists.

"I'll be in contact with Fr. Joyce tomorrow or the next day," he said to newsmen.

Parseghian said his contract with Northwestern runs another year.

He said he left a sick bed to appear tonight to fulfill a commitment made some time ago.

Parseghian was asked the nature of his illness, since his wife earlier told newsmen he had cancelled out the Grand Rapids appearance because of exhaustion.

"I'm just sick," Parseghian elaborated, "my stomach's upset and I've had a raw throat for several days."

He said he believed it was the onset of a bad cold.

Honors Pile Up For Staubach; Named Top Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Roger Staubach.

Navy's All-America quarterback and Heisman Award winner who attained nationwide respect for individual prominence in gridiron skills, in character and dramatic appeal, was voted the outstanding college backfield performer of 1963 in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The slender, handsome, quiet-spoken field general from Cincinnati was an overwhelming choice, receiving 57 of the 107 votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from every section of the country.

Nineteen other backfield stars attracted attention with Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Mr. Everything," topping the also-rans with 11 votes. Baylor quarterback Don Trull, the nation's leader in passing, was third with eight votes.

Sherman Lewis, the pint-sized Michigan State halfback who had five runs of 80 or more yards this past season, was next with six votes. Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's great runner and the nation's second leading rusher, had four votes. He was followed by Mel Renfro, Oregon's triple threat, and Terry Isaacson, the star quarterback of the Air Force Academy. Each had three votes.

Two votes each went to Gayle Sayers of Kansas, the nation's third leading rusher, and George Bork of Northern Illinois State, the top college passer, big and little. Bork had a fantastic record that included 244 completions in 374 attempts.

Staubach, in his junior year, smashed all Navy passsing and scoring records. He piled up 1,890 yards in total offense while piloting the second ranked Middies to a 9-1 record and an invitation to a Cotton Bowl clash with unbeaten and top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger's 67.3 passing percentage topped the nation.

Lothridge, the Engineers' versatile quarterback, set a college record of 12 field goals and was one of the nation's leading scorers. The 6-foot-1-inch, 187-pound senior's value to his team was inestimable. He ran, passed, punted, kicked field goals and extra points and kicked off.

Trull re-wrote the NCAA recluded 167 pass completions, 2,-ord book. His national marks in-157 total offense yards and 406 total plays.

Lafayette Cager Gets Extra Foul For New Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The collegians are sinking baskets so quickly, the official scorers are having trouble keeping count.

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six personals—one more than the limit.

Day got the extra foul—and was charged with it—before the official scorer could signal Day's disqualification for his fifth foul.

They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola brought its record to 5-0 — they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 walloping of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points, Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumannn scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama, Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81, Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit, Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin - Wallace, St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

The only Top Ten in action besides Loyola, fifth-ranked Duke, not only didn't hit 100, but ran into considerable difficulty before subduing stubborn South Carolina 77-70.

In other struggles, Creighton edged Iowa 77-72 in overtime, Rice topped Georgia Tech 84-79 in overtime, Wichita defeated Texas 76-57, Bradley nipped Minnesota 78-75, Maryland downed Clemson 56-48 and Southern Mississippi surprised Mississippi State 65-50.

Ramsey Fuming Over Censure

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Ramsey, proud co-captain of the world champion Boston Celtics, heard a football player praised for committing a "strategy foul." The Ramsey reaction: "Why is there a different standard for basketball?"

Known for years as the off-the-bench firebrand of the five-time National Basketball Association kings, Ramsey is fuming over the censure he has received from Walter Kennedy, President of the league.

The public wrist slap followed a story in a national magazine under Ramsey's name describing the art of dorawing fuls.

When first baited on the subject Ramsey whipped it back like a hot pass on a fast break: "No comment. Definitely no comment."

The question seemed logical enough. Since the story broke and the censure followed, Ramsey fouled out of a game for only the second time in the season at Philadelphia Friday night. Then he was charged with five fouls playing Cincinnati in Boston Saturday night.

The Celtics have been idle si then awaiting Tuesday night's doubleheader opener against Baltimore at Madison Square Garden.

After more questions, Ramsey volunteered:

"All my fouls, all that stuff in the article is strategy."

An ancient basketball technique is to foul and take a chance on giving up a point in order to get the ball and a chance too score two.

Ramsey then brought up the subject of Saturday's televised Kansas City - Boston American Football League game. Commentator Paul Christman, a former passing great, singled out a long pass play where the only defender clearly held the intended receiver and got a pass interference penalty.

Christman called it a smart play which saved a sure touchdown on which the defender was willing to give up an automatic first down to save six points.

"Nobody seemed to think there was anything wrong with that," Ramsey said. "And that's just the same thing I'm doing."

Redskin Coach Gets Vote Of Confidence From Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill McPeak moved ahead with plans for 1964 today with a vote of confidence from his bosses and more authority than any Washington Redskin coach in history.

McPeak was rehired Monday as coach and general manager of the National Football League team with authority to spend any amount he thinks necessary for player talent and to make any changes he seees fit to build a winner.

It was a far cry from the old days when president George Preston Marshall kept a tight rein on his coaches, even occasionally calling plays over the telephone connected from his box to the Redskin bench.

Often, the colorful, controversial Marshall fired coaches with better records than the 3-11 McPeak's Redskins finished with Sunday.

In 27 seasons since he brought the team here from Boston, Marshall has had 11 coaches.

Marshall, now in his late 60s, has mellowed somewhat as he got older. The headline grabbing feuds with other national figures grew less frequent. And it was Marshall who named McPeak general manager in 1962 and handed the 37-year-old former All-Pro defensive end broad authority in dealing for playing talent.

Marshall is a sick man now, so sick that three of his old friends, Redskin directors C. Leo DeOrsey, Edward Bennett Williams and Milton King, asked a court last week to name them to handle his affairs.

Their petition said Marshall was unable to conduct his affairs properly because he is suffering from cerebral arteriosclerosis and other ailments.

It was DeOrsey, the vice president who is voting Marshall's 51 per cent of Redskin stock, who made the announcement Monday after a three-hour session with McPeak and three other directors, Williams, King and Jack Kent Cooke, Los Angeles sportsman.

Although the Redskins lost on the field, they had their best year in history this past season in attendance, up 50 per cent over 1961 to 303,638 for seven home games.

DeOrsey said McPeak was given a 25 per cent raise in pay, but didn't mention any figures.

The mandate given McPeak included an expansion of the talent scouting program he created almost from scratch in 1961. Washington had fallen far behind other NFL teams in this respect, and as a result had become a chronic loser.

Harvard has won the Ivy Hockey League title the last three years.

Peters, Ford Share Honor

BOSTON (AP)—Rookie Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox and veteran Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, both lefthanders, shared American League pitching honors in 1963, the final official averages showed today.

Peters captured the earned run title with a 2.33 average, edging teammate Juan Pizarro, another southpaw, who finished with 2.39. Peters, who had a 19-8 record, is the first rookie to win an AL ERA championship since Gene Bearden of Cleveland in 1948.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota was third last season with 2.47. He was followed by two young Yankee pitchers, Jim Bouton, 2.53, and Al Downing, 2.56. Then came Lee Stange, Minnesota, 2.62, and Ford with 2.74.

Ford won the most games, 24, and had the highest won-lost percentage, .774. The Yankees' ace lost only seven times. He also was the league's workhorse, pitching 269 innings.

Pascual struck out the most batters for the third straight season, 202, and shared with New York's Ralph Terry he lead in complete games, each with 18.

Eddy's Bar Wins Crown

Eddy's Bar won the first half tournament championship in the Escanaba Tavern Dartball League Monday night, defeating Bay de Noc in the finals at White Birch.

League officials announced that Cliff Coppock of Eddy's was the regular season batting champion for the first half with a .544 average.

Parseghian Walks Out On Notre Dame Confab

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The door may remain open at Notre Dame for Ara Parseghian to enter as head football coach.

But if it is closed, who did it — Notre Dame or Parseghian?

The strangest episode in coaching has taken place.

Father Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president, announced Saturday that Northwestern's Parseghian has become the new coach of the Fighting Irish, succeeding Hugh Devore, who was elevated to assistant athletic director.

A news conference Monday for official signings of a four-year contract never materialized.

After a delay of more than two hours, Parseghian appeared from a meeting with Father Joyce. The usual voluble, dynamic 40-year-old coach appeared distraught and shaken.

In a written statement, he said that a story Saturday in the South Bend Tribune naming him as the new Notre Dame coach touched off his decision to agree to the job.

But, he said, the story was premature and came when details of the contract were not fully worked out. Therefore, he wanted a few more days to have it resolved.

With that, and no more elaboration, he left by car for his home near Northwestern University, where he has served as coach for eight years.

All this amounted to a walkout on final negotiations with Father Joyce, who remained firmly noncommittal on their meeting.

Parseghian returned home, went to his bedroom and refused to be disturbed.

With neither side clarifying the matter, speculation was rife. Father Joyce had a brisk "no comment" when asked if Parseghian had:

1. Wanted assurance eventually of becoming athletic director.

2. Wanted complete freedom to name his assistants and their salaries, including a hefty pay check for his No. 1 lieutenant, Alex Agase, if Agase were not chosen as his successor at Northwestern.

3. Wanted an unhampered hand in recruting with the aid of more than the 30 to 35 athletic scholarships Notre Dame now has available.

Father Joyce, asked point-blank if Parseghian would be the next Notre Dame coach, said "At this time I really can't say."

Meanwhile, Northwestern's athletic director, Stu Holcomb, said that Parseghian never had resigned officially and still had one more year to go on a five year contract.

Nothing To Say Only Comment By Parseghian

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A wizard at teaching explosive football offense, Northwestern University coach Ara Parseghian was a master of restraint and lack of comment on a widely heralded job change Monday night.

He had "no comment," on the derailment of an announced switch to Notre Dame.

Parseghian said "I have nothing to say beyond the statement I made after meeting with Fr. (Edmund) Joyce earlier today."

The statement blamed a premature newspaper story for casting sand in the gears of a plan to install Parseghian as coach of the Fighting Irish.

The 40 - year - old Parseghian was in Grand Rapids for a speaking engagement on Stag Night at the Peninsular Club, a plush headquarters for the city's leading businessmen and industrialists.

"I'll be in contact with Fr. Joyce tomorrow or the next day," he said to newsmen.

Parseghian said his contract with Northwestern runs another year.

He said he left a sick bed to appear tonight to fulfill a commitment made some time ago.

Parseghian was asked the nature of his illness, since his wife earlier told newsmen he had cancelled out the Grand Rapids appearance because of exhaustion.

"I'm just sick," Parseghian elaborated, "my stomach's upset and I've had a raw throat for several days."

He said he believed it was the onset of a bad cold.

Honors Pile Up For Staubach; Named Top Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Roger Staubach.

Navy's All-America quarterback and Heisman Award winner who attained nationwide respect for individual prominence in gridiron skills, in character and dramatic appeal, was voted the outstanding college backfield performer of 1963 in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The slender, handsome, quiet-spoken field general from Cincinnati was an overwhelming choice, receiving 57 of the 107 votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from every section of the country.

Nineteen other backfield stars attracted attention with Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Mr. Everything," topping the also-rans with 11 votes. Baylor quarterback Don Trull, the nation's leader in passing, was third with eight votes.

Sherman Lewis, the pint-sized Michigan State halfback who had five runs of 80 or more yards this past season, was next with six votes. Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's great runner and the nation's second leading rusher, had four votes. He was followed by Mel Renfro, Oregon's triple threat, and Terry Isaacson, the star quarterback of the Air Force Academy. Each had three votes.

Two votes each went to Gayle Sayers of Kansas, the nation's third leading rusher, and George Bork of Northern Illinois State, the top college passer, big and little. Bork had a fantastic record that included 244 completions in 374 attempts.

Staubach, in his junior year, smashed all Navy passing and scoring records. He piled up 1,890 yards in total offense while piloting the second ranked Middies to a 9-1 record and an invitation to a Cotton Bowl clash with unbeaten and top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger's 67.3 passing percentage topped the nation.

Lothridge, the Engineers' versatile quarterback, set a college record of 12 field goals and was one of the nation's leading scorers. The 6-foot-1-inch, 187-pound senior's value to his team was inestimable. He ran, passed, punted, kicked field goals and extra points and kicked off.

Trull re-wrote the NCAA record book. His national marks included 167 pass completions, 2,157 total offense yards and 406 total plays.

Lafayette Cager Gets Extra Foul For New Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The collegians are sinking baskets so quickly, the official scorers are having trouble keeping count.

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six personals—one more than the limit.

Day got the extra foul—and was charged with it—before the official scorer could signal Day's disqualification for his fifth foul.

They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola brought its record to 5-0 — they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 walloping of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points, Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumannn scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama, Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81, Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit, Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin - Wallace, St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

The only Top Ten in action besides Loyola, fifth-ranked Duke, not only didn't hit 100, but ran into considerable difficulty before subduing stubborn South Carolina 77-70.

In other struggles, Creighton edged Iowa 77-72 in overtime, Rice topped Georgia Tech 84-79 in overtime, Wichita defeated Texas 76-57, Bradley nipped Minnesota 78-75, Maryland downed Clemson 56-48 and Southern Mississippi surprised Mississippi State 65-50.

Ramsey Fuming Over Censure

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Ramsey, proud co-captain of the world champion Boston Celtics, heard a football player praised for committing a "strategy foul." The Ramsey reaction: "Why is there a different standard for basketball?"

Known for years as the off-the-bench firebrand of the five-time National Basketball Association kings, Ramsey is fuming over the censure he has received from Walter Kennedy, President of the league.

The public wrist slap followed a story in a national magazine under Ramsey's name describing the art of dorawing fuls.

When first baited on the subject Ramsey whipped it back like a hot pass on a fast break: "No comment. Definitely no comment."

The question seemed logical enough. Since the story broke and the censure followed, Ramsey fouled out of a game for only the second time in the season at Philadelphia Friday night. Then he was charged with five fouls playing Cincinnati in Boston Saturday night.

The Celtics have been idle si then awaiting Tuesday night's doubleheader opener against Baltimore at Madison Square Garden.

After more questions, Ramsey volunteered:

"All my fouls, all that stuff in the article is strategy."

An ancient basketball technique is to foul and take a chance on giving up a point in order to get the ball and a chance too score two.

Ramsey then brought up the subject of Saturday's televised Kansas City - Boston American Football League game. Commentator Paul Christman, a former passing great, singled out a long pass play where the only defender clearly held the intended receiver and got a pass interference penalty.

Christman called it a smart play which saved a sure touchdown on which the defender was willing to give up an automatic first down to save six points.

"Nobody seemed to think there was anything wrong with that," Ramsey said. "And that's just the same thing I'm doing."

Redskin Coach Gets Vote Of Confidence From Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill McPeak moved ahead with plans for 1964 today with a vote of confidence from his bosses and more authority than any Washington Redskin coach in history.

McPeak was rehired Monday as coach and general manager of the National Football League team with authority to spend any amount he thinks necessary for player talent and to make any changes he seees fit to build a winner.

It was a far cry from the old days when president George Preston Marshall kept a tight rein on his coaches, even occasionally calling plays over the telephone connected from his box to the Redskin bench.

Often, the colorful, controversial Marshall fired coaches with better records than the 3-11 McPeak's Redskins finished with Sunday.

In 27 seasons since he brought the team here from Boston, Marshall has had 11 coaches.

Marshall, now in his late 60s, has mellowed somewhat as he got older. The headline grabbing feuds with other national figures grew less frequent. And it was Marshall who named McPeak general manager in 1962 and handed the 37-year-old former All-Pro defensive end broad authority in dealing for playing talent.

Marshall is a sick man now, so sick that three of his old friends, Redskin directors C. Leo DeOrsey, Edward Bennett Williams and Milton King, asked a court last week to name them to handle his affairs.

Their petition said Marshall was unable to conduct his affairs properly because he is suffering from cerebral arteriosclerosis and other ailments.

It was DeOrsey, the vice president who is voting Marshall's 51 per cent of Redskin stock, who made the announcement Monday after a three-hour session with McPeak and three other directors, Williams, King and Jack Kent Cooke, Los Angeles sportsman.

Although the Redskins lost on the field, they had their best year in history this past season in attendance, up 50 per cent over 1961 to 303,638 for seven home games.

DeOrsey said McPeak was given a 25 per cent raise in pay, but didn't mention any figures.

The mandate given McPeak included an expansion of the talent scouting program he created almost from scratch in 1961. Washington had fallen far behind other NFL teams in this respect, and as a result had become a chronic loser.

Harvard has won the Ivy Hockey League title the last three years.

Library Offers Christmas Cheer

How is Christmas observed in France? What were the names of the Three Wise Men? How did the idea of Santa Claus originate?

Answers to these and many other similar questions about Christmas customs and traditions can be found at the Escanaba Carnegie Public Library, says Library Director Harry Courtright.

Christmas questions, he said, have dominated the work of library assistants for several weeks. The demand for Christmas materials is so heavy that the library each year sets up a special section of books and records pertaining to Christmas. Material may be checked out for a week.

"Books offer much practical help on all aspects of the holiday season," Courtright said. "Many volumes tell the story behind Christmas and how the holiday came to be. Collections of Christmas stories, plays, skits, and poetry can be obtained as well as recorded holiday music."

The Joy of Christmas edited by Lewellyn Miller. A collection of short stories with such catchy titles as "The Day They Gave Babies Away," "A Visit From St. Nicholas," and "The Boy Who Laughed at Santa Claus." All are designed to be read aloud to the entire family.

'The Family Christmas Book" edited by Dorothy Wilson. This is another collection for the whole family . . . a collection of delightful holiday stories and a bagful of hilarious cartoons on Christmas as a family holiday.

"Christmas With Ed Sullivan." This is Ed sharing his own Christmas memories and those of dozens of his celebrated friends. We visit with such notables as Pearl Buck, James Garner, Eddie Cantor, David Niven and others.

"The Day Christ Was Born" by Jim Bishop. The recreation of the happenings to Mary and Joseph and the Christ Child are retold with imagination and dramatic power. This little book will help anyone enter into a new appreciation of the Christmas holidays.

"Christmas In The Good Old Days" edited by Daniel J. Foley. A book for grandma and grandpa to help them explain what Christmas was like when they were children. It is profusely illustrated.

"A Second Treasury of Christmas Decorations" by Beth Hemingway. The how-to-do-it home decorator will find many of the secrets of how to use tasteful decorations to enrich the holiday season.

Holiday records can be selected from over 70 albums. Religious, organ, instrumental, and poetry reading are included. Many children's holiday books can be found in a special display in the Children's Room of the Library. Any of these materials can be reserved by calling ST6-4463.

Alger Opposes Early Opening Of Deer Season

MUNISING — The Alger County Board of Supervisors passed two resolutions at their regular meeting last week regarding the Pictured Rocks national park bill and the early opening of deer season in the Upper Peninsula.

In the first, the board went on record favoring establishment of the park, rescinding a previous resolution in which it opposed the bill. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to Senator Hart and MacNamara and Congressmen Knox and Bennett.

In the second resolution the supervisors went on record opposing the early opening of the regular deer hunting season in the U. P. They urged the Legislature to move the opening back to the former date of Nov. 15.

Their reasoning behind the action was the unusual warm weather encountered in the early opening.

Predicter Sees Mild Winter

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — Retired grocer Edward J. Pintar draws a bead from his ephemiris—that's an astronomical almanac—and predicts a mild winter and a rise in the stock market that should last until 1965.

Pintar's hobby of predicting the weather and stock market, on which he trusts to the stars' positions and positive and negative ion forces and things like that, dates back to a rough personal experience in the market.

In 1946 he plunged for $10,000 and lost $8,000 of it. The market fell.

"There was no logical reason. I couldn't figure it out," Pintar said.

He then heard of someone predicting the market by "planetary attractions."

"That explained it for me. The reason was not economic but a matter of forces," he said.

Pintar says he has a formula for calculating the magnetic forces of the planets. He relates them to each other and predicts the weather and the "emotional approach" to the market.

The ephemeris, a diagram of the planets, is centered on Greenwich, England. Pintar says he adjusts it to Royal Oak —that being the closest point to his home for which he can find the exact longitude.

Magnetic forces cause turbulence in the weather and also affect people, Pintar says.

The calculations are strictly a hobby for Pintar.

"I don't give out horoscopes for people. I'm not a fortune teller."

Airline Gains

North Central Airlines reported that in November for the 16th consecutive month it broke its own passenger boarding record with 91,138 passengers boarded. The 15,170,118 revenue passenger miles flown also established a high for any November in the company's 15-year history.

Three From Area Awarded Degrees At Michigan State

Michigan State University awarded degrees to 1,254 students at fall term commencement exercises.

The graduates included 90 doctoral candidates, 394 master's degree candidates and 762 bachelor's candidates.

Fall term closed at MSU Friday, Dec. 13.

The graduates from this area:

Peter Morey, 1401 17th Ave. S., Escanaba, bachelor of science in police administration.

Janice Marcantonio, Powers, BA Spanish.

Sylvester Rubick, 626 Oak, Manistique, BS Physical Education.

Marinette Okays Wage Increase

MENOMINEE — The Marinette County Board of Supervisors has approved a revised salary schedule for employes of the county highway department.

The revised schedule results in salary increases of from six to 18 cents per hour and pertains to workers who operate machinery. About 68 of the 83 employes of the highway department are affected by the increase.

FIX THAT LEAK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fix that leak, Ohio State University extension engineers warn. They say one faucet leaking only 40 drops of water a minute wastes almost a gallon of water a day.

Auto Industry Winds Up 1963

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry entered upon its last full week of 1963 production Monday after having kept its sizzling pace last week.

Christmas and New Year's Day holidays will cut down the fast pace as December ends.

Output last week hit an estimated 131,639 passenger cars as compared with 187,447 the previous week and 176,244 for the corresponding week last year.

The continuing fast production rate kept the industry in a cheerful mood despite the decision of Studebaker to cease making cars in the United States because of financial losses in its autos division.

Studebaker, a diversified company and smallest of the five American automakers, has decided to give up on its car plant at South Bend, Ind., and restrict production to its Canadian facility.

For this year to date the industry has turned out an estimated 2,278,400 cars as against 6,653,334 at this date in 1962.

Outlook Is Cold For This Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for mid-December to mid-January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the Eastern half of the nation.

The greatest departures from seasonal normals are expected to be in Ohio and Tennessee valleys and the middle Atlantic states.

Average temperatures are expected to be above normal over the plateau states and near normal along the gulf coast and also over the Pacific northwest and northern plains. Subnormal amounts are anticipated over the remainder of the nation except for near normal in New England, the Great Lakes, the central plains and southern portions of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts.

FIX THAT LEAK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fix that leak, Ohio State University extension engineers warn. They say one faucet leaking only 40 drops of water a minute wastes almost a gallon of water a day.

Auto Industry Winds Up 1963

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry entered upon its last full week of 1963 production Monday after having kept its sizzling pace last week.

Christmas and New Year's Day holidays will cut down the fast pace as December ends.

Output last week hit an estimated 131,639 passenger cars as compared with 187,447 the previous week and 176,244 for the corresponding week last year.

The continuing fast production rate kept the industry in a cheerful mood despite the decision of Studebaker to cease making cars in the United States because of financial losses in its autos division.

Studebaker, a diversified company and smallest of the five American automakers, has decided to give up on its car plant at South Bend, Ind., and restrict production to its Canadian facility.

For this year to date the industry has turned out an estimated 2,278,400 cars as against 6,653,334 at this date in 1962.

Outlook Is Cold For This Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for mid-December to mid-January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the Eastern half of the nation.

The greatest departures from seasonal normals are expected to be in Ohio and Tennessee valleys and the middle Atlantic states.

Average temperatures are expected to be above normal over the plateau states and near normal along the gulf coast and also over the Pacific northwest and northern plains. Subnormal amounts are anticipated over the remainder of the nation except for near normal in New England, the Great Lakes, the central plains and southern portions of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts.
